Library Report.

---

Number of volumes of the library in circulation,	329
Number of volumes purchased the past year,	85
Cost of same,	$72 19

One-half of the books are deposited in the chapel of the Congregational church and the remainder in the Baptist chapel, the pastors officiating as librarians.

There will be a wider circulation as more books are furnished by future annual appropriations by the town, thus affording a greater variety of useful and entertaining reading matter.

By order of the Library Trustees.

Annual Report
OF THE
SCHOOL COMMITTEE
OF THE
Town of Granville,
For the Year Ending Feb. 29, 1896.

To the Citizens of Granville :

As the Superintendent is in closer touch with the work of our schools, we look to him for a complete report of the workings of our schools.

We earnestly request a careful reading of the Superintendent's report, that you may know what has been done, the efforts made to bring up the standard of the schools and some of the difficulties we labor under in securing and retaining good teachers.

Although the work done is far from ideal, yet as there are improvements along nearly every line, we feel the money you have appropriated for schools has not been spent in vain.

Our schools have been in session thirty-three weeks.

Step by step we are putting the school buildings in a comfortable and attractive condition. The house in District No. 10 has been underpinned and a new floor laid. The house in No. 8 has had a new floor, making it much more comfortable. New floors and new stairs have been put in No. 3. These, with the necessary minor repairs, constitute the repairing of 1895. New seats are much needed in No. 10, and should be put in early this year.

In compliance with the law, U. S. flags have been put on houses Nos. 4, 5, 7, 8 and 10. Nos. 1 and 3 had flags raised by residents of the districts.

Four of our school houses should be painted this year.

We find every year the blackboards need reslating, and at the best some of them are very poor. We think it would be economy in the end to put in slate blackboards, and to begin this year by putting in slate in one room at least.

We think it for the advantage of the town and pupils to continue the present system of transporting pupils. Probably there will be more pupils to transport this year than last.

We would recommend an appropriation of $2500 for teachers' and superintendent's salaries and fuel, $150 for transportation of pupils, $200 for books and supplies, and $175 for repairs.

We have given orders for support of schools for year ending February 29th, 1896, to :

Superintendent's Report.

To the School Committee of Granville :

In making this, my second annual report, I refer you to the four preceding reports of your superintendents for a general discussion of many questions concerning the welfare of the schools.

If in connection with a statement of the condition of the schools and their needs for the future, you find an enumeration of particulars with which you are already familiar, please consider that this is made to inform the people who are not in close touch with the work and to give our efforts a definite record.

During the year I have made one hundred eleven school visits and held nine teachers' meetings. All have been held Saturday mornings except the last two. These evening meetings included an exhibit of school work. The one in the Grammar school room was attended by a large number of citizens, besides teachers and children. The storm prevented a general attendance at West Granville. Previous to that evening there were but four cases of absence among the eight regular teachers.

In accordance with your vote of March 21, 1895, I have purchased and distributed all the supplies and hired the teachers. No better terms have been made with dealers than those secured by your purchasing agent of last year ; but the work has given me a more definite knowledge of the amount and kind of material that the teachers are using, and there will be no extra bill.

The plan of allowing me to hire teachers has relieved you of the work, placed upon me a graver responsibility, and led me to study more carefully the difficulties involved.

Sixteen different teachers have been employed in the eight schools, but only six of these had had no previous experience in the town. Two schools besides Union have had no change of teachers, and but one has been so unfortunate as to have a new teacher every term. Almost without exception the teachers employed had had training or experience or both.

The distance from a railroad and small salaries restrict the number of candidates. The desirable classes from which we can hope to draw are:—

1. Untrained teachers of successful experience.
2. Trained teachers without experience.
3. Trained and experienced teachers who, because it is home or near home, or for other reasons, prefer to teach in Granville.

What are these other reasons why trained and experienced teachers prefer to work in one town rather than go to another for the same or possibly more wages per week?

1. A long school year. A good teacher prefers this, not only because her salary is larger, but also because she can accomplish more with her pupils and better fit herself for a first-class situation.

2. Suitable buildings, clean, warm, well ventilated, equipped with modern seats, furnished with plenty of blackboards, and having wholesome and attractive surroundings.

3. A liberal quantity of supplies. Without these good work is more difficult, and she has no opportunity to become familiar with the "tools of the trade."

4. Opportunities for improvement—a chance to visit other schools, time and means to attend teachers' meetings and institutes.

5. Prompt and intelligent support by the school officials in the serious perplexities of instruction and management.

6. A cordial and helpful spirit in the community. A good boarding place, pleasant greetings, and frequent visits to the school, sometimes count for more than money.

I have not spoken of these school characteristics, which give a town a good reputation among teachers who are seeking situations, because Granville is especially deficient in these particulars. Many of these conditions exist here in a high degree and we have been fortunate in securing several teachers of the third class. Is there not danger that under the town system of management citizens may lose the feeling of personal responsibility for their schools? All the inducements referred to are within the control of citizens, all contribute to efficient schools in other ways besides in securing and retaining skilled teachers, and no one of them involves an extra expenditure at all commensurate with the results obtained.

The wise appropriation of the town has enabled you to keep the schools in session thirty-three weeks, and also add considerably to the general equipment. If this policy is continued, buildings and apparatus can soon be put in good condition. Herewith is a record of the principal purchases. At the close of this report are some suggestions for the year to come.

"True Stories from New England History," "Stories of American History," and "The Strike at Shones," have been added to the reading material. The division of the Public Library into sections has made the books accessible to more pupils, but not many children have availed themselves of its privileges.

The exchange of text books in Geography has been completed. The method of treatment in the new books is so different from that to which teachers and pupils have been accustomed, that they have been somewhat at loss how to proceed, but the difficulties are being overcome. The best teachers like the books, and all who follow their general plan of presentation treat the subject in a rational way. The proper relation of a text book to school room work is well brought out in the following paragraphs:

"We urge that at all stages and in all parts of the study of Geography the teacher, rather than the text book, should lead the class. A good text book is necessary to furnish maps and other material of study, to secure conciseness of definition, and to save time in study, after a proper introduction to its texts has been given by the teacher, and a good text book should give a better presentation of the subject than teachers can usually be expected to command. So, also, recitations based on text books are indispensable in order to secure precision of understanding and of statement on the part of the scholars. But every stage of the subject should be naturally introduced and illustrated by the teacher, and the text book should be kept in its proper place as an aid and not as a master, and mere lesson hearing should never be allowed to replace actual teaching.

It is scarcely necessary to say that the simple memorizing or the slavish following of the text book should be avoided, and the work adapted to the particular class of pupils under instruction and to their geographic surroundings. In departing from the text book, however, the opposite mistake of consuming undue time in giving the scholars what the text book would give them in better form, and in dwelling on trivial local things, or on mere illustrations that are not necessary to develop the essentials, or on simple entertainment, or on carrying out a mere ideal method, should be avoided. The work should be important and the matter valuable, either in itself, or as a means of reaching that which is valuable. The leading up to a subject, and the leading out into it, should be such as to aid the pupils in making the highest and best use of the text book and of all geographical literature with which they come in contact."

The outline Course in Drawing, prepared by the State supervisors, has been furnished each school, together with the small amount of material necessary to carry out its provisions. "This outline is designed to help the teachers of country schools." It has helped ours.

Teachers' desks have been supplied with a series of books, giving problems in Arithmetic for the various grades, and Books III. and IV. have been furnished for children not advanced enough to use much of the material in the Grammar School Arithmetic. This purchase has saved teachers' time, reduced the amount of copying from the blackboard, and prevented some of the wear and tear of more expensive books.

Each of the three most advanced schools has been provided with a set of Chambers' Encyclopedia, and a map of the world has been placed in all schools except Union and Primary. Mr. A. W. Edson, Agent of the Board of Education, says:—"An abundance of reference books will enlarge a pupil's horizon, supply additional incentives to study, and greatly aid in topical teaching."

The vital question for us to answer is:—

"Have you given us good schools?"

Yes, and my own conviction is strengthened by the cordial sentiments of representative citizens. Although intellectual and moral growth cannot be estimated by Troy weight or in units of the Metric System, there are many features of the school year besides those already mentioned to which we can point with satisfaction. When compared with those of last year, the statistics show a smaller enrollment but an increased average membership, and an average attendance of 90 per cent. There have been fewer tardinesses and dismissals. More attention has been paid to music, recitations and declamations, discussion of current events, and the knowledge of public affairs that prepares for good citizenship. There has been a marked improvement in the deportment of several schools, and more of the "kindergarten spirit" has pervaded primary methods. These gratifying results have not been secured by all schools, but something has been accomplished with no loss in Arithmetic, Grammar or Geography.

This progress is not due to people, committee, teachers or Superintendent alone, but to harmonious co-operation of all.

SUGGESTIONS.

I recommend an exchange of the wornout readers for new books, and the purchase of three dozen copies of the Riverside Literature Series for use in eighth and ninth grades.

The Spellers are worn out and a few more Physiologies and Arithmetics are needed.

An answer book in arithmetic and a few books of geographical information, should be bought for each school.

Paint is still needed on certain buildings. South Lane ought to have seats. Chimneys and underpinning should be looked after in several places. West Granville buildings are not properly supplied with out houses, and in some other places these are out of repair. "The out houses should be properly constructed, the buildings for boys and girls widely separated; if out of doors, separated by a tight board fence or wall. The doors should be locked nights, the buildings inspected daily by teachers and janitor, and be kept neat and decent." Beech Hill, South Lane and Granville Center need more black board space, and the boards in several rooms need slating. The plastering in the Grammar and Primary rooms keeps crumbling away and something must be done for these boards soon. Stone slate boards are best and cheapest in the end.

Whenever a new stove is put into a building hereafter, arrangements should be made for ventilating the room so as to insure to the children a supply of warm, fresh air.

In conclusion I wish to thank the people, committee and teachers for their helpful suggestions and cordial support.

Respectfully submitted,

FAIRFIELD WHITNEY.

LIBRARY 1897

Report of Library Trustees

OF THE

TOWN OF GRANVILLE.

---

The Public Library the past year has been well patronized by both old and young, and books of all topics are taken.

We started the year with $79.45 to our credit, and have purchased books to the amount of $49.50, leaving a balance unexpended of $29.95.

The Trustees would recommend a small appropriation, so that the Librarians in cold weather might have a fire.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

C. C. SMITH, Chairman.

S. B. ROOT, Secretary.

Annual Report
OF THE
School Committee
OF THE
Town of Granville,
For the Year Ending March 1, 1897.

To the Citizens of Granville:

In looking over the year's work we find the high goal your Committee set for the schools has not been reached.

One reason for not obtaining good results in our schools is the absence of the pupils. Fathers and mothers, the attendance question lies largely with you. In the coming year, let the teachers have your hearty co-operation in keeping the children in school.

The registers show in their records of visitors that there is a great difference in the parents in the interest they manifest by visiting schools. Some registers record not a single visit by parents.

Our Superintendent prepares his report with much labor and pains, to give you the results of the school work, plans for future work, etc. We are anxious you should give his report a careful reading.

A part of the Committee attended the Superintendents' and Committees' meeting held in Springfield, Nov. 12, by A. W.

Edson. Among the subjects discussed were "Attendance and Need of Help from State in Supporting Schools." Careful statistics show that the country towns are far behind other towns in average attendance. Transportation of pupils from outlying districts was recommended. Several members of the State Board of Education are working hard, in behalf of country towns, for assistance from the State in support of our schools.

At a meeting of Selectmen and Committee, Oct. 31, M. T. Gibbons was elected to fill the place of Dr. C. W. Bartlett, resigned.

Not all the repairs planned have been made this year, owing in part to the disappointment by men engaged to do the work. The school houses at West Granville have not been painted as planned. No. 4 has been painted, No. 5 underpinned. Several out-houses have been put up, and locks put on all the out-buildings. At No. 4 the seats have been re-arranged, much to the cleanliness of the room and convenience of teachers and pupils.

Pupils have been transferred from No. 9 to No. 8; from No. 6 to No. 1; from No. 2 to No. 3. We strongly recommend transportation from same districts next year.

The repairs your Committee suggest are as follows: New fence at the Grammar school, Center school painted on the inside, Beech Hill and Ore Hill underpinned, all the school houses in West Granville painted, and the necessary minor repairs.

We would recommend $2,200 for fuel, superintendent's and teachers' salaries, $150 for books and supplies, $250 for transportation of pupils, and $175 for repairs.

We have given orders for the following amounts for the year ending March 5, 1897:

Superintendent's Report.

To the School Committee of Granville :

This is my third annual report, and the sixth in the series of superintendent's reports.

The duties delegated to me have been the same as those performed last year. I have made one hundred eighteen school visits and held seven teachers' meetings.

Wednesday, May 13, Mr. James Hall talked to the teachers about Drawing, and Thursday, December 10, Mr. A. W. Edson addressed teachers and people upon "Reading" and "Needs of the School." On each of these dates schools were closed one-half day. We can afford to be lifted out of the ruts occasionally. September 29 several of the teachers attended an institute at West Springfield.

A part of the time at regular teachers' meetings has been taken up in discussing the "Course of Studies for Elementary Schools." Since the opening of the fall term teachers have been following this. The order does not differ very much from that in the "Outlines" hitherto used, but it gives more time to Language and Reading in the early years and less to Geography. It is necessary to have some such guide, and this one is better for country towns, because copies for each school are furnished gratis by the State, the new teachers are more likely to be acquainted with this course than with one that is used in only two or three towns, and the order of work and methods suggested have the approval of the highest authority. We do not expect to closely grade these rural schools, but it is expected that children will follow the order of steps recommended for each branch of study. It is supposed that the work of each grade will keep the child employed for a full year, but the smaller the classes the more likely they are to vary widely in average ability, and it is better to advance a class whenever it is ready for promotion.

Entering as they do at different times and being often quite irregular in their attendance, first-year children are not likely to finish their work on time. Quite often they attend only a part of the year, and before they return to school forget all they had learned. In some cases I have observed that such children, who have been in school a part of the time for two years, know less than they ought to have learned in six months of regular work. It is not wise to send any child to school a few days at a time. He forms the bad habit of irregular attendance and lowers the record of the school without gaining any advantage himself.

The table of statistics shows that we have had sixteen different teachers. Ten have taught in town before. All of the six new teachers have had Normal training and three are graduates of a Normal school.

Granville has never had any voice in the selection of a teacher for Union school, but there is a verbal agreement that hereafter we may hire every other year.

Beech Hill school has had three teachers, and was closed two weeks before the others, because Miss Mecum secured a better situation. It seemed a waste of money to send a new teacher there for so short a time at the season when fewest pupils attend.

Our policy has been to increase the salary of capable and trustworthy workers, as far as the character of the school and the amount of funds would warrant. Those who know how difficult it is to secure efficient teachers, will agree that it is better to insure good work by adding a dollar or two per week to the pay than it is to risk the demoralization of the school in the hands of an inefficient workman. The salary of several teachers outside the villages, has been increased. The amount of work required should determine the pay, not locality nor tradition. If the former is considered at all, the teacher at a distance from church and post-office should receive more money.

In the past three years special effort has been made to cultivate in the children a taste for good books, and considerable care has been exercised in the purchase and distribution of reading material. I have made some investigation the past year in order to answer such questions as these :

How many of the children read but little? What books do the children choose? What effect has our effort had?

Seventy-seven of the older pupils were asked to make lists of the six best books each ever read. Thirty-six or nearly one-half reported less than six, making a total vote of three hundred seventy-seven.

The five books receiving most votes were "Black Beauty," "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "American History" (two books of history stories), "Seven Little Sisters," and "Robinson Crusoe." Fifty-five votes were for books of history and biography, thirty-two for travels and geographical information. But one of the books seemed bad from its title, and more than two-thirds were positively good. This fraction might be considerably increased, did I know the character of every book voted for.

The first, third and fourth of the above five are used as readers in the schools. Thirty-nine pupils voted for three or more books that the town furnishes, and nineteen for no books except those furnished by the town. Such books received in all one hundred seventy votes, or nearly half the entire number.

You can draw your own inferences from the above figures. The papers seem to me to show beyond a doubt that the children know good books from bad ones, and that more than half of the choicest reading of the pupils is due to school influence.

Tests of the impromptu work of each child have been made at various times. These will be continued and the papers kept for comparison with others that may be taken hereafter.

SCHOOL EQUIPMENT.

The exchanges and purchases of text-books recommended in last year's report, have all been made. The text-books now in use are modern and in fair condition. The painting and repairing of buildings should go on until each house is respectable in all its appointments, and equal to the average home. When possible, as in the case of sheathing and stone-slate blackboards, the repairs should be permanent.

According to Chap. 46, Section 12, of the Public Statutes, there should be on file for use of the committee, copies of the reports of the Board of Education. These are convenient and valuable, and it would be well to collect and place in the supply room as complete a set as possible. Doubtless former members of the committee have copies they will be glad to give for this purpose.

I advise some addition to the supplementary reading and the purchase of a few more books of reference for each school.

A Mental arithmetic for sixth and seventh grades would help teachers who have difficulty in securing clear analyses.

Well informed citizens have said to me that the writing has improved more in the last ten years than any other branch of work. However gratifying this may be, I think that in nothing else that we attempt to teach, except Drawing, are we farther behind the best schools.

The general verdict of educators, together with six months' experience in the town of Agawam, has convinced me that vertical writing is easier to learn than the slanting style, easier to teach, and easier to read as written by the average school-boy. The simple form, large size and upright position of the letters enable little children to acquire a legible hand in a very short time. I have never yet seen a school using the present system where a majority of the children assumed a good position. The position for vertical is natural, and it is a practical thing to have children keep it at all times when writing. I recommend the adoption of a simple vertical system.

Text-books and supplies will cost less next year than last, as there is a large stock on hand. A change of writing books will cost nothing.

REMARKS ON STATISTICS.

With the usual table of statistics, I have included the summaries for 1895 and 1896, thus showing the comparative enrollment, average membership, etc., etc., for the three years in which you have had thirty-three weeks of school. There has been a gain in every particular for which we are responsible, except tardiness for 1897. With an enrollment of fourteen fewer children, there has been an increase of more than five in the average membership and more than eight in the average attendance. The per cent. of attendance, 93.3, is the best recorded in any town of this district, as far back as the records in my possession go, and they cover a period of more than ten years. It is quite safe to say it is the best ever recorded, for there has been a general gain in these particulars during this period in all three towns. The record of the Grammar school for the year, 96.6, is, on the whole, the best record made by any school during the five years that the record of single schools has been kept. Up to 1895, I find but one school with as good a record as the whole town made the past year. Not much over half as much time was lost as was lost two years ago, and four hundred sixty days less than last year.

This creditable showing is partly due to the popularity and energy of some of our teachers, and partly to the personal efforts of the committee in bringing the matter to public notice at the town meeting, circulating copies of the law among parents and making personal investigations, so that most people have understood the meaning of the statute and co-operated with the committee in its enforcement. It may seem that the schools have done well enough, and were these lost days equally distributed among school members, every child would have attended about thirty weeks. The fact is most of these days were lost by a comparatively few children. Sometimes there was good reason for absence, but oftener the loss of time has been due to negligence or a wish to keep the child at work.

Three possible remedies occur to me: A school year of thirty-six weeks, as urged in the "Annual Report" for 1893, would help some to comply with the law who are kept out by sickness, and be a benefit to all who attend.

It is possible that a different arrangement of terms would be more satisfactory to parents who have work for their children. The spring term could commence sooner and close early in June. It was suggested last year that some of the schools begin earlier in the fall, so as to avoid the severe weather of midwinter. The winter vacation was shortened this year for this purpose. Parents should make their wishes known to the committee.

If other means fail, a list of delinquents should be given to the truant officers, with instructions to confer with the parents or guardians of these children, and to take such measures as will bring them into school the required number of days. Let it be understood that no child can live in Granville and grow up in ignorance.

Your attention and that of parents is called to Section 9 in Chapter 47 of the Public Statutes, which directs you to exclude from school children who have not been vaccinated. Children who are "unfit subjects" are excused by Section 2, in Chapter 515.

I appreciate the intelligent support that I have received, and tender for the same my thanks to you, to the teachers, and to the citizens generally.

Respectfully submitted,

FAIRFIELD WHITNEY.

Rules and Regulations

FOR THE BETTER MAINTAINING OF ORDER IN TOWN MEETING.

1st. The Moderator shall preserve decorum and order; may speak to points of order in reference to others; and shall decide all questions of order.

2d. When any voter shall require a question to be determined by yeas and nays, the Moderator shall take the sense of the meeting in that manner, provided one-third of the voters present are in favor of it.

3d. He shall propound all questions in the order in which they are moved, unless the subsequent motion be previous in its nature; except that, in naming sums and fixing times, the largest sum and longest time shall be first.

4th. When a question is under debate the Moderator shall receive no question, but to adjourn, to lay on the table, for the previous question, to postpone to an hour certain, to amend, or to postpone indefinitely; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they stand arranged.

5th. When two or more happen to rise at once, the Moderator shall name the one who is to speak first.

6th. No voter shall speak more than three times on one question, without first obtaining leave of the meeting, nor more than twice until others who have not spoken, shall speak, if they desire it.

7th. All Committees shall be appointed and announced by the Moderator, unless otherwise specially directed by the meeting.

8th. When any voter shall make a motion, and such a motion shall be seconded by another, the same shall be received and considered by the meeting, and not otherwise.

9th. When a vote has passed it shall be in order for any one of the majority to move for a reconsideration thereof; and when a motion of reconsideration is decided, that decision shall not be reconsidered.

10th. No one shall be allowed to stand up to the interruption of another while any one is speaking, or pass unnecessarily between the Moderator and the person speaking.

11th. Every motion shall be reduced to writing if the Moderator desires it.

12th. Any voter may call for a division of the question, where the sense will admit of it.

13th. No motion or proposition of a subject different from that under consideration, shall be admitted under color of amendment.

14th. When a vote is doubted, the voters for or against the question, when called on by the Moderator, shall rise and stand uncovered till they shall be counted.

15th. Individuals while speaking shall stand uncovered and address the Moderator.

16th. No person shall be permitted to stand on the seats.

17th. A motion to adjourn without date shall be debatable; but a motion to adjourn to a day certain shall not be debatable.

18th. No person shall be permitted to smoke in this house.

The committee appointed at the annual meeting, March 22, 1897, to draft a code of by-laws for the conduct of the business at Town Meetings, respectfully submit the above for consideration.

Annual Report
OF THE
School Committee
OF THE
Town of Granville,
FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH 1, 1898.

To the Citizens of Granville :

After three years of faithful service, much to the regret of the committee, Mr. Whitney resigned as Superintendent to accept a similar position near Boston. The joint committee at a meeting in Westfield in September last, elected M. A. Arnold of Adams, Mass., to fill the vacancy, who resigned four days after his acceptance. Another meeting was immediately held, and the joint board elected Herbert E. Richardson of West Brookfield, Mass., who is our present Superintendent. He is a graduate of Chicago Normal and a teacher of several years' experience. The familiar face of State Agent A. W. Edson will no longer be seen here as heretofore, he having accepted a position of Assistant Superintendent in New York. G. T. Fletcher, State Agent of the Berkshire district, has been transferred to this district.

The principal repairs suggested last year have been made the most extensive at Ore Hill school house, this being enlarged, painted, reseated and other minor repairs. Interior No. 1 has been painted. A new fence has been built at No. 3, and straightened at the south side, Mr. O. R. Noble kindly giving the land needed for this purpose, thus making it one of the most attractive school grounds in town. It was found that the state law would not allow us to aid in support of the union school, so the pupils in that district have been transported to No. 8, also from No. 9 to No. 8, No. 6 to No. 1, No. 2 to No. 3. We think it best to transport from the same districts this year. We recommend the following repairs for '98: South Lane new seats; woodwork in grammar and primary painted; several of the chimneys relaid, and other smaller repairs are all that will be needed. The following appropriations we think necessary to be made for the coming year: $2000 for fuel, superintendent's and teachers' salaries, $150 for books and supplies, $400 for transportation of pupils, and $150 for repairs.

We have given orders for the following amounts for the year ending March 1, 1898:

E. G. Loomis, teaching grammar,	$403 20
Mabel Dickinson, teaching primary,	268 80
Ella J. Swetland, teaching No. 4,	60 00
Anna R. Smith, teaching No. 4,	147 60

Superintendent's Report.

---

To the School Board of Granville :

I hereby submit my first and the seventh annual report of the Superintendent.

Upon entering the duties of my office in September, I found the schools well graded, the work systematized, and the general cause of education far in advance of those towns that have as yet no superintendent of schools.

These results have been attained, I believe, through the efficiency of my predecessor, and the earnest support he has received from the School Board, as well as to the faithfulness of the teachers upon whom rests the burden of the work.

But excellent as has been the work already done, there are greater heights to be attained, and we must not stop with well doing. An understanding of the "Three R's" is highly important and cannot receive too much emphasis, but to stop here is to rob the child of the best part of his inheritance. If the school does not give to him a well rounded character, a power to understand the relation of things, and ability to grasp every circumstance in life, and lead him to an appreciation of the good in every thing, it fails in that which is of prime importance, namely, to make true men and women of our boys and girls.

It may be said that the purpose of true education is so to develop the individual as to enable him to make the most of himself in every thing good and noble, or in other words, it consists in drawing out and developing all the God-given faculties that man possesses. To the home and the school belongs largely the duty of accomplishing this purpose. If the home does not fulfil its duty in this respect, the school must supply the defect.

Parents often mistake and underrate the aim of school work, and consider that the mere accumulation of facts is the object of school training. But unless brain power is gained the work of the school is void.

In the proper and well directed performance of his school work, the child should gain such a command of his faculties, and such an accumulation of will power, that he will ever be ready to seize opportunity "by the forelock," and meet every obligation of duty.

The child should be so trained that when coming to the cross-roads in life, with no guide-board to direct, he may be able to choose for himself the right way. Every lesson should be so taught and learned as to contribute to this all desirable attainment. Merely to memorize or to learn with reference to special display is not educational in any proper sense of the term. Indeed it may weaken rather than strengthen the pupil.

To bring into action the latent faculties of the child is absolutely demanded of the teacher, and with this view a knowledge of the child mind is an absolute necessity to successful work in the school room. For school instruction should "adopt the means by which a non-thinking, non-reflecting, non-speaking child can most surely be trained into a noble citizen, ready to contend for the right and to die for the right."

In the gift of free will, we are endowed by our Creator with the power to work out our own destiny; and it is the highest function of education to help us overcome the disadvantages of troublesome environment and unfavorable circumstances in the gaining of a noble manhood or womanhood. But while we seek this power, we should properly understand the scope and direction of its exercise. Is it merely to compete for our own selfish ends? or is it not rather to compete in doing good, and thus benefit not only ourselves but the world?

True education can but make a true man. If one seems to be educated, and is not a true man or woman, it is safe to infer that one has been the victim of wrong or faulty instruction.

In a word, let it be said that any conception of education is imperfect and inadequate that does not contemplate the production of that well-rounded character, which shall embody in principle and action, "whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report."

To attain this end your superintendent has directed, and will continue to direct, his efforts, and trusts that every parent may know by personal visitation just what the schools are doing or attempting to do for his child.

ARITHMETIC.

The work in Arithmetic is not as practical as is desired. There is much presented in this subject that is never used outside the school room.

The work in Arithmetic should relate largely to the practical affairs of every-day life, to problems that are met with in the home and in business, and which exercise the judgment and reasoning faculties of the child.

"The boy who has been through college and cannot measure a pile of wood," may well be criticised and the value of his training questioned.

GEOGRAPHY.

In teaching Geography, pupils should visit, if possible, the section studied. Much use should be made of pictures, magazines, and newspaper articles, as well as paints and the moulding board. In this way the child sees clearly the places studied, they become real to him, and thus his experience is broadened. For the study of Geography is but an imaging of the earth's surface.

Many of our teachers already are working along these lines, but more can be done.

WRITING.

The system of vertical writing was introduced at the beginning of the year. Mr. Moody met the teachers Sept. 19, and gave them special instruction in the new method. The teachers readily mastered the new system, and the children have made wonderful improvement in their penmanship, showing that the change was a wise one.

PAINTING IN WATER COLORS.

The use of water colors has been encouraged, not for the purpose of teaching the children to paint pretty pictures, but rather to train the child's powers of observation and expression, as well as to make more real every line of school work. Every subject taught in our schools gains new power and life, as the brush or pencil tells its own truth concerning it.

To train the child to observe is to introduce him to the world of beauty that surrounds him. How blindly most of us go through life, merely for the lack of a little training in early years in learning how to observe.

NATURE STUDY.

All development of the individual powers is by self activity, but the degree and direction of it are largely determined by surrounding conditions. Hence the greater and more important part of one's education is gained after school days are over. Is it not wise, therefore, to more closely connect the environments of life with those of school, by including studies which will lead the child to the best understanding of his surroundings?

The teaching of science is no longer confined to the college and high school, but has its place in every grade of school work; for if it is not presented during the first years of the child's school life, more than half of the pupils will fail of receiving any part of it.

Much instruction in science can be adapted to the pupils in the lower grades, but "the pedagogical value of such instruction is not to be measured by the knowledge acquired, nor so much by the amount of discipline gained, as by the fact that it reveals and interprets nature in such a way that the process of development, which the teaching of science merely begins in school, will be continued afterward by nature herself all through life."

In conclusion, I wish to express my appreciation for the kindly support you have given me, and for the earnestness with which the teachers have gone forward in their work.

Respectfully submitted,

HERBERT E. RICHARDSON.

Annual Report

OF THE

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

OF THE

Town of Granville,

For the Year Ending February 10, 1899.

To the Citizens of Granville:

We think some most excellent work has been done in our schools and in the teachers' meetings by both teachers and Superintendent.

As a whole a better corps of teachers have been retained; their work has been faithful and harmonious with Superintendent.

The Hill School has been unfortunate in some ways, having had four teachers in three terms.

New courses of study have been made by Mr. Richardson in Literature, Science and History, in which the work is planned for each month. The range of reading required in the new courses is broader than in the previous courses, sending pupils and teachers to the library, aside from the many books furnished by the town.

Water colors have been used to an advantage in the schools, giving the child another mode of expression in addition to the oral and written expression.

In the last spring town meeting of Agawam the town voted to withdraw from the district. The reason given was they wished more than  $\frac{1}{3}$  the time of Superintendent as they had 41 per cent. of the schools of the district.

At a joint meeting of the committee of the district Granville and Southwick committee agreed to give Agawam 41 per cent. of the Superintendent's time, providing Agawam paid 41 per cent. of his salary. At a special town meeting of Agawam they voted to join the district again for one year, with the conditions made by the committee. We do not know what action the town of Agawam will take this year, but think the present district may continue.

All the repairs recommended last year have been made, of which the principal repairs are new seats at South Lane, four new teachers' desks at Primary, Grammar, South Lane and Ore Hill. Beech Hill school house has been shingled. These with minor repairs on the other buildings constitute the repairs.

We recommend the following repairs for '99: Beech Hill school house, painted outside and in and new seated, one chimney relaid, a new stove in the Grammar room, together with minor repairs.

Pupils have been transported from Hartland Hollow, Southwest, Stowe district, and No. 2. At present there are no pupils in Stowe district of school age.

As town books closed before schools ended there are a good many bills unpaid. The state reimbursed the town for what it pays the Superintendent the previous year, so we have drawn more money for his salary than we have paid. So next year we shall draw less for the Superintendent and the unexpended balance is larger than if our bills were all paid. We earnestly desire the town will give us the appropriations as last year, which were $2,000 for fuel, teachers' and Superintendent's salaries, $150 for books and supplies, $400 for transportation of pupils, $150 for repairs.

We have given orders for the following amounts for the year ending Feb. 10, 1899:

Superintendent's Report.

---

To the School Committee of Granville :

The following report of your Superintendent of Schools is herewith respectfully submitted. It is my second and the eighth annual report made by the Superintendent.

In my last report I sought to give a brief summary of what I consider the true purpose of education, and at this time I shall point out what has been attempted along various lines during the year.

Upon Saturday, October 8, Mr. Fletcher, Agent State Board of Education, assisted by Mr. Sargent, Assistant State Supervisor of Drawing, held a Teachers' Institute in the Grammar school, to which Southwick, Blandford and Tolland teachers were invited. Owing to the storm, teachers from Granville and Southwick only attended, and we regret that more did not avail themselves of the privilege. The residents of Granville manifested their interest by a good attendance in the afternoon. The following program was carried out :

9 A. M.	Arithmetic,	G. T. Fletcher
10 A. M.	Drawing,	L. Walter Sargent
11 A. M.	Primary Reading,	G. T. Fletcher
12 M.	Lunch,
1 P. M.	Reading (continued),	G. T. Fletcher
2 P. M.	Music,	Miss Urania G. Burrows
2.30 P. M.	Drawing in Relation to Nature Study,	L. Walter Sargent
3 P. M.	Science in Primary and Grammar Grades,	H. E. Richardson

Mr. Fletcher was present at a teachers' meeting Saturday, May 28, and spoke upon Language. These meetings are a help to the teachers and a great benefit to our schools.

During the year eight regular teachers' meetings have been held. Some time has been given to all the different lines of school work, but special attention has been given to history and science. Outlines, prepared as guides in teaching these subjects, have been considered with the teachers before they were studied in the schools; thus more uniform and systematic work has been done.

The interest of committee and teachers, and their willingness to participate, have greatly enhanced the value of these meetings. At one Miss Etta Warner presented the subject of History, and Miss Mabel Dickinson illustrated with a class the methods of teaching Primary Reading; at another, Mr. Archer Bowen spoke upon Geography. We should count ourselves fortunate in having teachers in our midst who are able to treat these subjects in a manner to reflect credit upon themselves, and upon our schools. In many cases excellent work has been done. The teachers, as a body, have been earnest and faithful in the discharge of their duties, and to them is due the credit for whatever advance has been made.

The sentiment is abroad that education does not educate. "The total result of a common school education," says a well-known educator, "is a deadening of interest in study. The greater part of the course is as the desert of Sahara. At the end not one in fifty has a taste for reading or any incentive for further study."

These charges are too true, and the cause is not far to seek. We have held too long to the idea that education is a mere accumulation of facts, and the work of the school has consisted too largely in teaching dead forms and empty symbols. "You cannot make the human mind fall in love with formal study."

How is this state of affairs to be remedied? As a result of the universal child-study movement, it is now generally granted that the child's nature and needs are a factor to be considered; that instead of the cultivation of the memory alone, all the powers of the child should be developed. It has been demonstrated that the best way to do this is to present such subjects as are adapted to the child's capacity and needs, those that will arouse his interest, cultivate good tastes, and a love for the good and beautiful in everything, thus enriching his whole being.

NATURE STUDY.

It is now generally recognized that through Nature study the common branches, i. e., the "Three R's," are more thoroughly and quickly taught than through the grind of di-connected facts and definitions. Through a more intimate relation and closer study of nature, the child is trained in accurate habits of observation that are invaluable in every line of school work, as well as throughout his whole life.

It is sometimes said that children in the country know all about their surroundings, and the manifold mysteries and beauties of nature, therefore this study is unnecessary. But we feel that the teachers' testimony does not support this statement, and that through the neglect of Nature study "the wits of the country child lose just the sharpening they most need, to say nothing of the stimulus and delight which can ill be spared by one whose mental life is apt to be monotonous. The wits of the city child may secure in other ways the sharpening so essential to success in life; yet the training afforded by a study of nature rightly directed, and the pleasure which such a study is sure to yield, are as essential to him as to his country cousin."

With this thought in mind, during the year a course in science has been outlined by months. Subjects calculated to arouse a real spirit of investigation, and adapted to the season in which they are studied, have been selected.

DRAWING AND PAINTING.

Drawing and Painting have not been taught as isolated subjects, but have been related to every line of school work. They have not been employed as ends in themselves but as means to an end, that is to increase the child's interest in all of his studies, and to give him another mode of expression. We speak, or write, because we have a thought to express, and we should draw and paint for the same reason. To draw or paint simply for the purpose of producing pretty pictures would be a waste of time and detrimental to school work.

Geography, history, arithmetic and science can be more thoroughly taught when drawing, painting and modeling are employed. In the modeling of a continent, in the plan of a battlefield, in the diagram of a room that is to be carpeted, or in the painting of a leaf, the teacher has a tangible expression of the child's thought, and something the child himself is able to pass judgment upon, as he compares his product with the more perfect model. In this way, not only are his powers of observation and expression quickened, but through the exercise of his judgment, reason and memory, correct habits of study are formed.

The work done in drawing in relation to nature study has been in accord with the plan outlined by the State Supervisor of Drawing. This subject, as we have striven constantly to have it taught, cannot justly be termed simply an embellishment, for it is, when rightly understood, a most vital factor in the truest education of the child.

One of the greatest art teachers of to-day, from an experience as wide as the range of his knowledge, says that the general public feeling is tending to the admission that education must include not only full command of expression by language, but of true form by the hand. Whether you are drawing a piece of Greek armor, or a hawk's beak, or a lion's paw, you will find that the mere necessity of using the hand compels attention to circumstances, which would otherwise escape notice, and fastens them in the memory without further effort. He adds that it is only by music, literature and painting that cultivation can be given. Considering its source, this is an argument worthy of attention in favor of presenting these subjects to our boys and girls, who are charged sometimes with a lack of culture and refinement.

None of the essentials have been sacrificed or neglected for the sake of drawing or painting; but two lessons a week have been required, and while, in every instance, it has not been presented in the best way possible, a beginning has been made in the right direction. It is unsafe to measure the value of any line of educational work by the seeming success, or failure, of any one teacher, or before it is fully understood, and fairly tried.

HISTORY AND LITERATURE.

The subject of History and Literature has received special attention during the year.

The youth of our land ought to know something about the nature of our institutions, their origin and growth. Good citizenship demands such a knowledge of American History. It is now generally believed that this subject should not be taught as an isolated thing, but our courses of study should give an opportunity for some knowledge of the entire history of the world. American history would then seem to the child what it really is, "the last link in a long chain of development." In this way, as he comes to see the continuity of events, he will seek for causes and results. No event will stand alone by itself, but will be related to what has gone before and to what follows. He will attach importance not so much to the knowledge of facts as to the knowledge of principles, not so much to the cultivation of memory as to that of judgment and reason.

Believing that this study should be begun in the first primary grade, and continued throughout the entire course, the work has been outlined by months for all the grades.

In the lower grades subjects especially adapted to children have been selected. Young children, of course, have had little experience and cannot understand complicated forms of life, but stories from mythology, the Indians and Eskimos, representing primitive life, and the beginnings of history in ideas of time, place and customs, they feel in sympathy with.

History is a subject well adapted to two ends—to arouse a love for study and to give a knowledge of how to study. Stories from history attract the youngest children, and if we make our method of teaching it what it should be, we give our pupils that best of helps, a key to the use of books. Whatever tastes are formed in childhood will prevail throughout life, and if a love of study is not formed then, probably it never will be.

Some one has said that literature is best history, for it takes us into the very heart and life of a people. In Whittier and Lowell we breathe the very atmosphere of the Civil War. Who would think of teaching Puritan New England without Longfellow's "Miles Standish," or the French and Indian War without "Evangeline"?

So in the history course we have made literature help all along the way, and the work has been more interesting, and the pupil's view of the past has been made clearer and broader than is otherwise possible.

Throughout the course, many books, not in the schools, are referred to, in order to cause pupils to form the habit of using the public library. From time to time, as new books are added to the library, I hope that the needs of our schools may be considered.

Believing that "the best is none too good for the children," the following books are in use in carrying out the course. Supplementary readers, which are used constantly, are included.

Grade I—"Hiawatha Primer," Cooke's "Nature Myths," Andersen's "Fairy Tales," Cyr's First Reader.

Grade II—"Æsop's Fables," "In Mythland," "Grimm's Fairy Tales," Cyr's, Stickney's, Barnes's, Harper's, New Normal, New National, Appleton's, Monroe's, Davis's First Reader.

Grade III—"Stories of Ulysses," adapted, Pratt's "Stories of Colonial Children," "Little Folks of Other Lands," "Seven Little Sisters," Baldwin's "Fifty Famous Stories Retold," "Story of Robert Fulton," Cyr's, Stickney's, Barnes's, Harper's, New Normal, New National, Appleton's, Monroe's, Davis's Second Reader.

Grade IV—"Each and All," "Robinson Crusoe," "Stories of Marquette and Joliet," "Story of La Salle," "American History Stories," Vol. I, "Story of Eli Whitney," Cyr's, Stickney's, Barnes's, Harper's, New Normal, New National, Appleton's, Monroe's, Davis's Third Reader.

Grade V—"American History Stories," Vols. II and III, "Ten Boys," Cooke's "Story of the Odyssey," De Garmo's "Tales of Troy," "Old Greek Stories," Vol. III, "Heroes of Asgard," "Story of the Norsemen," "Myths of Old Greece," Vols. I and II, Cyr's, Stickney's, Barnes's, Harper's, New Normal, New National, Appleton's, Monroe's, Davis's Fourth Reader.

Grade VI—Eggleston's "First Book in American History," "American History Stories," Vol. IV, "A Wonder Book," Starr's

"American Indians," "Hiawatha," "Stories of Heroic Deeds," "Tales of Chivalry," Baldwin's "Story of Roland," "The Talisman" (abridged), "Old Greek Stories," Vol. III, Cyr's, Stickney's, Barnes's, New Normal, New National, Harper's, Appleton's, Monroe's, Davis's Fourth Reader.

Grade VII—McMurry's "Pioneer History Stories," "American History Stories," "Stories of Our Country," Montgomery's "Beginners' History," "Miles Standish," "Grandfather's Chair," "Sketch Book," Baldwin's "Story of Seigfried," New Normal, New National, Harper's, Appleton's, Monroe's, Davis's Fifth Reader.

Grade VIII—"Evangeline," Fiske's "United States History," Sheldon's "United States History," McMaster's "United States History," Higginson's "United States History," "Stories of Great Americans," "Heart of Oak," Vol. III, Harper's, New Normal, New National, Appleton's, Barnes's, Monroe's Fifth Reader.

Grade IX—Fiske's "United States History," "American Statesmen in Their Homes," "Outlines of the World's History," "Our Government," School histories named under Grade VIII.

BUSY WORK.

It is not enough to keep the little children simply occupied during school hours, but all the so-called "busy work" should be educational in its character. To this end, the children have made pencil boxes, calendars, and charts upon which they have kept daily weather records, giving the results of their own observations, including the temperature, direction of the wind, atmospheric conditions, etc. There has been much clay and sand modeling, also drawing and painting from leaves, flowers, buds and branches of trees, fruits, vegetables and other natural objects. In all this work, all the child's powers are called actively into use, and while he has been occupied, he has been interested, and the educational maxim, that "we learn to do, by doing," has been exemplified.

ATTENDANCE.

There has been a slight gain in attendance, yet the number of days lost should engage the serious attention of parents and those who are taxed to maintain the schools. Under the old law children were obliged to attend school but thirty weeks, and two weeks of this time were allowed for absence, whereby the new law provides that they shall be in school during the whole time that the schools are in session, and shall not be absent except for unavoidable cause. For the benefit of those who are not aware of the change, the new law is herewith appended:—

CHAPTER 496—An Act relative to School Attendance and Truancy.

SECTION 12. Every child between seven and fourteen years of age shall attend some public day school in the town or city in which he resides during the entire time the public day schools are in session, subject to such exceptions as to children, places of attendance and schools as are provided for in sections three, seven, ten and eleven of this act: provided, that the superintendent of schools or, where there is no superintendent of schools, the school committee, or teachers acting under authority of said superintendent of schools or school committee, may excuse cases of necessary absence: and provided, further, that the attendance of a child upon a public day school shall not be required if such child has attended for a like period of time a private day school approved by the school committee of such town or city in accordance with section two of chapter four hundred and ninety-eight of the acts of the year eighteen hundred and ninety-four, or if such child has been otherwise instructed for a like period of time in the branches of learning required by law to be taught in the public schools, or has already acquired the branches of learning required by law to be taught in the public schools, or if his physical or mental condition is such as to render such attendance inexpedient or impracticable. Every person having under his control a child as described in this section shall cause such child to attend school as required by this section.

SECT. 31. Any person having under his control a child between seven and fourteen years of age who fails for five day sessions or ten half-day sessions within any period of six months while under such control, to cause such child to attend school as required by section twelve of this act, the physical or mental condition of such child not being such as to render his attendance at school harmful or impracticable, upon complaint by a truant officer, and conviction thereof, shall forfeit and pay a fine of not more than twenty dollars. Any person who induces or attempts to induce any child to absent himself unlawfully from school, or employs or harbors while school is in session any child absent unlawfully from school, shall forfeit and pay a fine of not more than fifty dollars.

We express the wish that parents might be interested to visit the schools oftener, in order to become better acquainted with the teachers, and the methods of work. This would be an inspiration to teachers and pupils, and by bringing the school and the home into closer relations, both would be mutually helped and the cause of education much advanced.

In conclusion, I wish to express my appreciation for the strong and kindly support that you have given me, and for the earnest co-operation with which the teachers have carried on the work.

ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
SCHOOL COMMITTEE
OF THE
TOWN OF GRANVILLE,

For the Year Ending, Feb. 10th, 1900.

---

To the Citizens of Granville :

The work done in our schools, the ideals sought and the training given our teachers, is carefully reported in Superintendent Richardson's report, which we earnestly urge every one interested in the welfare of our schools to read.

Our Superintendent has shown the best of judgment in the selection of teachers. With one exception the teachers have shown a most excellent spirit in their work through the year.

You will remember in last year's report, mention was made of the possibility of Agawam's withdrawing from the district.

In a recent communication from a member of the Agawam school board, he said the sentiment of Agawam was favorable to the present district and the present Superintendent. So without doubt the district will continue.

All the repairs recommended in the report of '99 have been made, the principal ones being at Beech Hill and South Lane, Granville.

There were thirteen pupils to be transported from South Lane. Because many of the pupils were small and the ride long, the parents expressed a desire for a school to be opened there.

This necessitated some repairs which were made, and school opened after the Thanksgiving recess.

Because of the distance and cold the pupils in Hartland Hollow have been hired tutored during the winter term.

Our school buildings are now in good repair, except the blackboards.

In these days the blackboard is such an important factor in all school work, it is necessary that they be something more than narrow boards painted black with wide cracks between.

So we purpose to put in a few slate boards this year, at least make a beginning in the right way.

We respectfully ask for the same appropriations as last year, which were as follows: $2000 for fuel, teachers' and superintendent's salaries; $150 for books and supplies; $400 for transportation; $150 for repairs.

We have drawn orders for the following amounts:

Superintendent's Report.

---

To the School Board of Granville :

In accordance with your rules I have the honor to submit the following as my report for the year ending, March 1, 1900 :

The work of the schools on the whole has advanced well throughout the year. No radical changes have been made. We have advanced along lines previously marked out. The desire is to make the work as valuable as possible.

We know that the greater part of what a pupil learns at school is forgotten in later life. "The value of an elementary education, therefore, consists largely in the power gained through the acquirement of knowledge rather than in the every day use of the knowledge acquired." Yet there are certain fundamental facts belonging to all school subjects that should be so thoroughly taught as to remain permanently in the mind of the pupil and be available for use at all times.

Our aim is to give thorough instruction in all important facts, and through this instruction develop and broaden the intellectual life of the pupils. Success in this depends upon the character of the instruction given, which is in every case of greater importance than the quantity.

The past year has brought many changes in the corps of teachers, only two of the old corps remaining—Miss Bertha M. Hall of South Lane and Miss Nellie E. Albee of Beech Hill. A more earnest, conscientious and loyal teaching force it would be hard to find than the present one. At the opening of the winter term Miss Bertha M. Hall was transferred to the Northeast school, owing to the closing of the South Lane at West Granville, and Miss Bessie M. Gillett was given the South Lane, which was opened at East Granville.

We regret to report the resignation of Mr. Howe of the Grammar school, who goes to Dedham, Mass., to accept a better position.

The blackboards in nearly all the schools are far from satisfactory. In most cases they are made of boards and never have been desirable. Natural slate is somewhat expensive in the beginning, but when real service is considered it is the cheapest in the end, as it will never deface or wear out, but will improve with use.

SCHOOL EXHIBIT.

Upon the afternoon and evening of June thirteenth an exhibition of school work was held in Gibbon's hall.

In many places similar exhibits are held every year. They are considered a regular feature of school work and a year's preparation is made for them. A public exhibit was mentioned at the beginning of the winter term, although not decided upon until April first.

Much credit is due pupils and teachers for the amount and character of the work exhibited. Very little extra time was taken for preparation, as most of the work had been kept on file by teachers from month to month, as it was done by pupils from the beginning of the school year, and the greater part of the work was done before it was decided to have an exhibit.

The object of the exhibition was to show as far as possible the results of the every day work of the schools. Parents who seldom or never visit the schools, are glad to avail themselves of these opportunities to see what their children are doing, and the people of the town showed their appreciation by a good attendance.

TEACHERS' MEETINGS.

Nine teachers' meetings have been held during the year. These are held every month, always upon Saturday morning, from ten to twelve o'clock, in different parts of the town.

Since September we have devoted the time to the study of the history of education. We have used Painter's "History of Education," as a book for study in the hands of the teachers. At every meeting, time has been taken for the general recommendations which visits to the school-room suggest. Teachers and school committee have been free to take part, and the meetings have been profitable and interesting.

This study is a valuable one. It broadens our views in regard to education.

By acquainting us with the ideas and methods of the past, it spares us the cost of repeating experiments and mistakes. It gives the origin of present educational systems and shows what is correct in principle and valuable in method. It inspires educational workers with greater zeal by presenting the examples of illustrious teachers."

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

On November twentieth a Teachers' Institute for the special benefit of the teachers of the district was held in Agawam Town hall.

All the Granville teachers but one, who was detained because of illness, and two members of the school committee were present. There was also a full attendance from the other towns. These local meetings are helpful and seem to meet the needs of the teachers as well as the larger county and state institutes.

The following was the programme :

2.00. "Primary Geography," Mrs. M. R. Davis

2.45. "Some Elements of Teaching," Mr. G. T. Fletcher

The ladies of Agawam provided a free lunch which was served in the parlors of the Congregational church. The citizens of Agawam manifested their interest by a large attendance during both sessions of the institute.

MUSIC.

At the beginning of the winter term music was introduced into the schools, Mr. S. A. Weaver's correspondence course being employed. By this method the work is outlined by Mr. Weaver every week for the teachers, who in turn render him a report of the work done each week in their schools. The teachers are to visit Mr. Weaver from time to time and see him conduct the work with his classes in Westfield, where he is supervisor of music in the public and Normal schools. Mr. Weaver reports that he is very much gratified with the results already obtained in Granville and the outlook is very encouraging. For the sake of having music introduced, Mr. Weaver was willing to do the work for the small sum of $30, for the remaining two terms of the year.

Educators are recognizing more and more the value of music as a disciplinary study. It is believed that daily vocal drill in

For the sake of having music introduced, Mr. Weaver was willing to do the work for the small sum of $30, for the remaining two terms of the year.

Educators are recognizing more and more the value of music as a disciplinary study. It is believed that daily vocal drill in our schools is a healthful exercise, inducing correct position, expanding the chest and lungs, developing the organs of speech, improving the enunciation, and teaching how to use the voice.

From this exercise the child acquires conformity to strict and systematic drill. He learns to do quick and accurate work with thorough concentration. The child who takes up a new exercise and masters the time and tune without the aid of teacher or instrument, does so only when well developed in concentration of thought.

Some one has said "Beautiful music produces good impressions, good impressions lead to right living, right living encourages good citizenship, good citizenship makes a state and nation strong."

READING.

In all our school work I believe that reading is of great importance. By reading is meant not only the ability to read but the formation of a right habit in reading and a desire to read good books.

To secure the desired results in this direction a large supply of reading material is necessary. Years ago one book for each grade was thought to be sufficient, but now every pupil reads several books in each grade and many of these books are selections from the best English classics and all have much literary merit.

We have, during the past two years, added quite largely to our list in all grades. In this way pupils not only read a large amount of the very best literature in school, thereby forming a taste for good reading, which in the higher grades is supplemented by similar books taken from the public library, but are acquiring a valuable habit which will be of no small benefit to them all through life. This appreciation of good literature is showing itself even among the younger pupils.

ATTENDANCE.

Many of the lost days recorded during the year were caused by sickness. Scarlet fever, measles and diphtheria have been prevalent as at no other time for years. The North Lane school was closed three weeks. One week of this time was made up during the Christmas recess, and the remaining two weeks after the other schools had closed, thus a full report from that school is not available at this time.

Other schools were closed for a longer or shorter period, but all the lost time has been entirely made up.

Some misunderstanding seems to exist regarding the power of school authorities to execute the laws regarding compulsory attendance. A copy of the law, which has been fully carried out in other parts of the district without the slightest difficulty, is again appended.

CHAPTER 496.—AN ACT RELATIVE TO SCHOOL ATTENDANCE AND TRUANCY.

SECTION 11. * * * * No child who is a member of a household in which a person is sick with smallpox, diphtheria, scarlet fever or measles, or of a household exposed to contagion from a household as aforesaid, shall attend any public school during such sickness or until the teacher of the school has been furnished with a certificate from the board of health of the town or city, or from the attending physician of such sick person, stating in a case of smallpox, diphtheria or scarlet fever, that a period of at least two weeks, and in a case of measles a period of at least three days, has elapsed since the recovery, removal or death of such person, and that danger of the conveying of such disease by such child has passed.

SECT. 12. Every child between seven and fourteen years of age shall attend some public day school in the town or city in which he resides during the entire time the public day schools are in session: provided, that the superintendent of schools or, where there is no superintendent of schools, the school committee, or teachers acting under authority of said superintendent of schools or school committee, may excuse cases of necessary absence. Every person having under his control a child as described in this section shall cause such child to attend school as required by this section.

our schools is a healthful exercise, inducing correct position, expanding the chest and lungs, developing the organs of speech, improving the enunciation, and teaching how to use the voice.

From this exercise the child acquires conformity to strict and systematic drill. He learns to do quick and accurate work with thorough concentration. The child who takes up a new exercise and masters the time and tune without the aid of teacher or instrument, does so only when well developed in concentration of thought.

Some one has said "Beautiful music produces good impressions, good impressions lead to right living, right living encourages good citizenship, good citizenship makes a state and nation strong."

READING.

In all our school work I believe that reading is of great importance. By reading is meant not only the ability to read but the formation of a right habit in reading and a desire to read good books.

To secure the desired results in this direction a large supply of reading material is necessary. Years ago one book for each grade was thought to be sufficient, but now every pupil reads several books in each grade and many of these books are selections from the best English classics and all have much literary merit.

We have, during the past two years, added quite largely to our list in all grades. In this way pupils not only read a large amount of the very best literature in school, thereby forming a taste for good reading, which in the higher grades is supplemented by similar books taken from the public library, but are acquiring a valuable habit which will be of no small benefit to them all through life. This appreciation of good literature is showing itself even among the younger pupils.

SECTION 11. * * * * No child who is a member of a household in which a person is sick with smallpox, diphtheria, scarlet fever or measles, or of a household exposed to contagion from a household as aforesaid, shall attend any public school during such sickness or until the teacher of the school has been furnished with a certificate from the board of health of the town or city, or from the attending physician of such sick person, stating in a case of smallpox, diphtheria or scarlet fever, that a period of at least two weeks, and in a case of measles a period of at least three days, has elapsed since the recovery, removal or death of such person, and that danger of the conveying of such disease by such child has passed.

SECT. 12. Every child between seven and fourteen years of age shall attend some public day school in the town or city in which he resides during the entire time the public day schools are in session: provided, that the superintendent of schools or, where there is no superintendent of schools, the school committee, or teachers acting under authority of said superintendent of schools or school committee, may excuse cases of necessary absence. Every person having under his control a child as described in this section shall cause such child to attend school as required by this section.

SECT. 24. Every habitual truant, that is, every child between seven and fourteen years of age who wilfully and habitually absents himself from school contrary to the provisions of section twelve of this act, upon complaint by a truant officer, and conviction thereof, may be committed, if a boy, to a county truant school for a period not exceeding two years, and if a girl, to the state industrial school for girls.

SECT. 25. Every habitual absentee, that is, every child between seven and sixteen years of age who may be found wandering about in the streets or public places of any town or city of the Commonwealth, having no lawful occupation, habitually not attending school, and growing up in idleness and ignorance, upon complaint by a truant officer or any other person, and conviction thereof, may be committed if a boy, at the discretion of the court, to a county truant school for a period not exceeding two years, or to the Lyman school for boys, and, if a girl, to the state industrial school for girls.

SECT. 26. Every habitual school offender, that is, every child under fourteen years of age who persistently violates the reasonable regulations of the school which he attends, or otherwise persistently misbehaves therein, so as to render himself a fit subject for exclusion therefrom, upon complaint by a truant officer, and conviction thereof, may be committed, if a boy, at the discretion of the court, to a county truant school for a period not exceeding two years, or to the Lyman school for boys, and, if a girl, to the state industrial school for girls, unless such child is placed on probation as provided in section twenty-eight of this act.

SECT. 31. Any person having under his control a child between seven and fourteen years of age who fails for five day sessions or ten half day sessions within any period of six months while under such control, to cause such child to attend school as required by section twelve of this act, the physical or mental condition of such child not being such as to render his attendance at school harmful or impracticable, upon complaint by a truant officer, and conviction thereof, shall forfeit and pay a fine of not more than twenty dollars. Any person who induces or attempts to induce any child to absent himself unlawfully from school, or employs or harbors while school is in session any child absent unlawfully from school, shall forfeit and pay a fine of not more than fifty dollars.

Sect. 33. The school committee of every town and city shall appoint and fix the compensation of one or more persons to be designated as truant officers, and shall make rules and regulations governing said officers. Truant officers shall not receive fees for their services. The school committees of two or more towns or cities may employ the same truant officer or officers.

Sect. 34. The truant officers of towns and cities shall inquire into all cases arising under sections eleven, twelve, twenty-four to twenty-six inclusive and thirty-one of this act, and may make complaints, serve legal processes, and carry into execution judgments thereunder. They shall perform the duties of oversight of children placed on probation as may be required of them under section twenty-eight of this act. A truant officer of any town or city may apprehend and take to school, without warrant, any truant or absentee found wandering about in the streets or public places thereof.

We feel that the Granville schools are second to none considering their isolation and the salaries paid. The spirit of the work is most excellent, all labor together harmoniously for the best welfare of the children. This is due in large measure, we believe, to the efficient and faithful services of the school committee.

I wish to express my hearty appreciation to the school board, to the town's people, and to the teachers for their support, for to them unitedly is due the credit of the success that has been attained.

Respectfully submitted,

HERBERT E. RICHARDSON.

To the Citizens of Granville :

GENTLEMEN :— In giving you this report we wish you would consider the disadvantages under which we commenced this year. You voted to collect that old pauper bill of Westfield, and if they did not pay, sue them. We have tried to collect it, but they would not pay. They argue that we should know what we were paying for. If we had not paid this bill Southwick would have had to pay it ; therefore, if they were to pay Granville it would be a loss to Westfield.

Immediately on entering our duties we were notified by Edward Barnard that Jury Stedman was at his house under expense to the town, and wished us to remove him. I called to see Stedman and he claimed settlement in this town. We investigated and found that although he had lived here forty years, he had not paid the required number of taxes to gain a settlement. We therefore notified the State and sent him to the State farm.

The next case that took our attention was the La-Brod family. They lived, as you know, on the Kellogg place in 1889. From there they moved to the James White place, from there to the Reed place, from there to the Gibbons place, from there to the Page place, from there the town moved them to Ludlow in 1896. Ludlow notified this town that they were there on expense to this town.

Their claim was, the woman gained a settlement by residing in the town five years, her husband having no settlement in the State (which in fact is true). They demanded to see our books, and on investigating found nothing to prevent her gaining a settlement in this town. I asked for a month's time to investigate, which they kindly granted. We used up nearly six weeks before I got a clue, and then by the merest chance. I heard that they had sickness in the family. I wrote to Dr. Bartlett at Marshfield, and he wrote back that he doctored old LaBrod in March, 1892—made four visits, for which the town paid him six dollars. This, of course, relieved this town. You can see, taxpayer, the value of records. In this case, if it had not been for Dr. Bartlett's record, this town would have had this woman, nearly fifty years old (nearly blind), and four children.

The next case was Harvey Stever. A Mr. Richardson of Westfield notified us that there was twenty dollars due him for rent. We refused to pay the same, and I notified Mr. Stever that if he wanted aid he must come to this town and get it. His daughter wrote me she would give him a home as long as he lived. I notified Mr. Stever of the fact and since have heard nothing from him.

We had another case from Westborough. They notified us that one Albert Parsons, son of George C. Parsons, who died in this town some three years ago, was on expense to this town at three dollars per week. I investigated and found that George C. Parsons enlisted from Worcester in 1863. I notified Westborough people if they wanted aid they had better look to Worcester for it. We understand that this town has paid out considerable money in the last thirty-five years for aid for this family.

We have had several applications for aid; one from a lady in Westfield, who wished us to furnish her with two rooms. We notified her we would find a home for her child, and then she could take care of herself. She notified us at once she preferred to take care of her own child, and since we have heard nothing from her.

Another case was that of a gentleman who was an old resident of this town, but who lives just over the line in Connecticut at present. He called and wanted aid, said he was so lame he could not work. He was told he would have to go to the poor house if he got aid. He went home and went to work. •

While we feel and know that it is the duty of this town to aid all deserving poor who have a settlement here, we feel as town officers that it is our duty to protect the interests of its taxpayers in a just and legal manner. Much more might be said in regard to this matter, but this will give you an insight in regard to the management of the poor for this last year.

In regard to highways much might be said; you all know that the Spring opened badly for the roads. The ice that filled the ditches and sluices, turning the water into the roads, washing them badly; and after the ice was melted the sluices all over town, were found to be in very bad condition. The very dry summer made the roads like beds of ashes, and when the heavy showers came, washed the roads, leaving them full of stone.

We were notified on the day of our town meeting, that two bridges were in a dangerous condition, the bridge near the old drum shop and the Dickenson bridge. The bridge at the old drum shop was repaired at once, but the Dickenson bridge was found to be so rotten that it could not be repaired. One engineer informed us that the town was liable for criminal neglect for leaving such a bridge there, and told us that as soon as the bridge was removed the abutment would fall, which proved a fact, for it did fall into the brook.

The building of the abutments for this bridge was more of an undertaking than the town officials wish to be responsible for. So we hired Oren B. Parks, civil engineer, to survey and lay out the work. We then advertised for bids. Bids received were from $4.10 to $8.25 per square yard, the contractor to furnish all material.

The contract was let to Corder Bros. for $4.25 per square yard. The work was done in a substantial manner and to the approval of the engineer, Oren B. Parks.

The iron bridge is fifty feet long and cost $400. It cost eight years ago $900. It is as good to-day as it was then, and we consider it a very good bargain.

We filed an application with the Highway Commission at Boston for aid, and we think this town will get some for permanent work.

Granville, Feb. 15, 1901,

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

OF THE

TOWN OF GRANVILLE,

FOR THE

Year Ending Feb. 10th, 1901.

The Report of the Granville School Committee, for the Year Ending Feb. 10, 1901.

---

To the Citizens of Granville :—

As you know, Superintendent Richardson resigned April 1, 1900, to accept a similar position in the eastern part of the State. Francis F. Brick, Superintendent of Schools in Belfast, Maine, was elected to fill the vacancy.

He adhered closely to the plans of his predecessor for the remainder of the school year, introducing some new methods in the fall.

Mr. Brick has outlined his plan of work for your benefit in his report, which we earnestly desire each parent should read carefully.

We have had the following pupils in Westfield High School the past year: Susie Phelon, Lucy Phelon, Lucy A. Phelon, Nellie Sullivan, Fanny Root and Ruth Gaines; we expect some more pupils will enter the High School next September.

We have made all the repairs suggested in our last report. The Primary room has been ceiled and slate boards put in, which are very satisfactory.

You will notice the amount expended on repairs exceed the appropriation for that object.

In the late fall, we discovered the roof of the Grammar school in such a condition that every rain storm sent the water dripping down into the rooms; this necessitated a new roof at a cost of about sixty dollars.

The pupils from South Lane have been transported to the Grammar and Primary, from South West and South Lane, West Granville to Ore Hill. We have hired the pupils in Hartland Hollow tutored the same as last year. If there are no more pupils in these sections, we would recommend the same transportation as last year. When schools close for the winter term, they have been in session thirty-four weeks.

The teachers have not been paid for the last two weeks of the term. All the transportation bills for the winter term and the minor bills that come in at the close of school are unpaid. The present Superintendent prefers to buy new books during the summer vacation, such bills have usually been paid from the past year's appropriation. This accounts for large balance our due on the treasurer's books.

We recommend the following repairs for the coming year: Yard fence at Beech Hill, slate boards in the Grammar room and the room ceiled, with the minor repairs on various buildings.

We respectfully ask for the same appropriations as last year: $2,000 for fuel, teachers' and superintendent's salaries; $150 for books and supplies; $400 for transportation and $150 for repairs.

We have drawn orders for the following amounts :

Superintendent's Report.

---

To the School Committee of Granville :

I have the honor to submit to you the following as my report for the year ending February 10, 1901 :

Since entering upon my duties I have made sixty-six visits of a half day's duration and have held eight teachers' meetings.

I have classified all school books owned by the town, and caused corresponding lists made for each school room on special blanks prepared for the purpose and kept in their respective rooms.

A system of monthly tests has been established throughout the schools for the purpose of stimulating the work, and to acquaint the teacher from time to time with the specific knowledge of the pupils, to train the pupils in neatness in written work, and also to cultivate the power to place such work in good English on paper. All such written work is examined carefully by the Superintendent. In addition to the monthly tests, special tests are given from time to time by the Superintendent.

THE POLICY.—It has been the policy of my superintendency to preserve intact the good work done by my predecessor ; and to advance along such lines as would stimulate the work already done and so maintain the progress in one complete whole. I have endeavored to strengthen the weak places in the various studies. I make a half-day visit because I consider such to be of more value to the teacher and pupils than a visit of an hour and a half. The scattered condition of the territory and the fact that more than one-quarter of the time is spent on the road, seems to bear me out in this policy. In my visits to your schools I have endeavored to carry to the teachers direct and specific help by teaching exercises, by close examination of the work done each month, by written outlines, by advice and counsel in individual cases, and by laying out the work in detail from month to month. I have tried to become personally acquainted with each pupil and the work they were doing, that I might carry to each school help in special cases, and advise the teacher more intelligently about them. Notwithstanding the fact that our schools are fairly well graded, and that the work is progressing along the lines of those grades, the unit of instruction is now and always will be the individual child. We are in danger of too much machine classification. The purpose of the school to-day is to fit the child for life in every sense of the word, and no one plan or method has the monopoly in this direction. The development of culture along the lines of literature and art should be in connection with the practical development along other lines, as in the case of mathematical drill. There is still the demand for the same kind of work in geography, history and English. The moral and mental culture is important, but the concrete knowledge of essentials is equally important from the standpoint of the wage-earner. The function of the public school is to equip thoroughly for a successful life, and this may be divided under three heads: first, the development of mental power by training in correct habits of thinking, by quickening perception, by sharpening judgment, and by strengthening reason; second, to furnish practical knowledge; third, to develop moral character. There is no need of divorcing any one or two of these from the other, the three should go hand in hand, and will, if thorough and specific work be done. I have endeavored through the year to emphasize this principle to the teachers in the various schools.

The course in literature has been closely adhered to. We have tried to stimulate individual industry and to toughen the mental fibre, "which is always the result of prolonged and strenuous individual effort." In arithmetic, rapidity and accuracy have been especially striven for; in writing, clearness and cleanliness and a power to carry the same into daily work; in reading, the power to think and express intelligently the reading matter; in geography, the power to recognize the location and climate influencing any given section. Above all I have endeavored to carry into my work for the schools the doctrine of specific and direct teaching.

TEACHERS AND TEACHERS' MEETINGS:—Nearly all of our teachers have been a success during the past year. They have been faithful in carrying out the details of the work by general study, by outside preparation, and by close attention to the instruction of your Superintendent. For their faithfulness and zeal I commend them to you. The efficiency of the teaching force bears a close relation to the educational status of the town.

The spirit and composition of the teaching force affects the strength and virtue of the instruction of our schools. If this be true, then, it behooves us to look well to the quality and training. Poor scholarship, poor preparation, poor equipment, should not be tolerated. Whether a teacher receives six or twelve dollars a week, the demand should be for the same good and faithful service. Whenever a teacher measures his labor by his pay, his usefulness is impaired. Of one thing there is no longer any question, namely: a growing demand for teachers who are both vigorous and gentle, who know the latest methods and have the old-time power in handling a school and awakening enthusiasm in the pupils.

Teachers' meetings are a part of the work. At these meetings the general plans of the schools are discussed and questions pertaining to the machinery are brought up. At these meetings the question of method, amount and kind of work done, the general condition of any particular school is discussed. The work outlined by the Superintendent is discussed and suggestions made for increasing the power of school and teachers.

The work for professional study for the past year has consisted of lectures in physiology and regular study in the history of education.

SUBJECTS TAUGHT.

READING: A decided change in the lower grades was made in reading last fall by extending and specifying in detail how reading should be taught. The Rational Phonic Method was put into operation in the lower grades. The salient points of this method are these: first, three weeks' drill in conversation with and about objects at hand; second, the learning of an initial stock of seventy-six words. These are learned, not as isolated words, but in sentences written upon the board so that the pupil can get the thought of the word rather than the form alone. Third, a system of phonetic sounds and the blending of these in words that take the place of letters in learning new words. These phonetic forms are drilled upon up to and including grade III. Fourth, rapid reading of several books in each grade. Results of this plan show in lower grade that first grade pupils will read an ordinary primer in about four weeks. This makes the reading quick, bright, full of thought and intelligence. Fifth, the discovery of new words by individual effort. I have seen pupils meet such words as "handsome," "corner," "stand," for the first time, and after a minute's silent sounding pronounce them correctly. As this plan is extended up through the grades it is expected that pupils will develop the power of recognizing new words at sight, without outside help. This is the fundamental object of phonics as applied to the word method where each new word has to be learned as a separate fact. Such words, for example, as "conditionally," "institution," "regularity," "uncompromising," will be readily recognized and correctly pronounced by this phonic method.

This will in no wise interfere with the sight reading advocated by the course in literature and history; on the contrary, it will aid it. It is essential that children be taught how to read as well as what to read.

ARITHMETIC:—The adoption of Prince Arithmetic by Grades as the standard text-book is a move in the right direction. All schools are now well supplied and we believe that the work in arithmetic has grown during the past year. Effort has been made to increase the efficiency of accuracy and rapidity. To this end the amount of mental work has been increased, and special drill work has been prepared and distributed to all teachers.

HISTORY AND LITERATURE:—The course in literature and history as prepared and put into operation by my predecessor has been developed intact. This course we hope will be of more value as soon as the Library is opened. I wish the Superintendent might be allowed to recommend some of the first books bought for the Library.

ENGLISH:—Effort has also been made to improve the work in English in all its parts. The ends to be sought in teaching language are:

1. To train the pupil to observe.
2. To increase his power to think.
3. To train him to tell orally the result of his observations by means of correct, clear, language.
4. To train him to write the result in correct, clear, language.
5. To teach him to know thoroughly the construction of the mother tongue, its various forms, its relation to other languages upon which it is based and from which it is derived. With these ends in view each grade reviewed the work of the previous grade at the beginning of the year in order that a good foundation might be secured. The habit of producing neat written work has been aimed at from the start. Every school recitation has been a language lesson. Pupils are required to speak distinctly, to choose the proper words, to pronounce them correctly, and to express their thoughts in complete statements.

GEOGRAPHY :—The work in Geography has been stimulated by additional outlines to supplement the regular work. This subject is taught at a special period from the fourth year up, the fourth grade being taught without a text-book in form work and geographical elements, including molding and sketching. The work of the ninth grade is also developed without special reference to any text-book on the study of nations.

NATURE WORK :—Nature work is but one phase of geography, but it is a particular phase, and has special place in the course. In view however of the amount of work to be accomplished each year, and the great number of classes which our plan necessitates, a modification of this study is necessary. We can not successfully carry on a course in nature work by grades such as is in vogue in city schools, and still do justice to the other studies of the course. I hope to submit to your Committee in the near future a plan whereby this study will receive its proper amount of attention without neglect to the other studies.

MUSIC :—The music under the Weaver plan has proved very successful in those schools where the teacher had knowledge of music. In nearly all cases this knowledge is possessed, as it is the policy of the Superintendent in engaging teachers to make this one of the qualifications, hence the good work done. I would recommend that the same policy in regard to music be followed during the coming year, with the addition, viz. : that teachers be allowed to use one half day each term recommended by the State for visiting, to visit Westfield and meet Mr. Weaver for special work in music for our schools.

THE GRAMMAR SCHOOL :—There is great possibility for good work in our grammar school. If there was some plan devised whereby a separate intermediate school could be maintained in connection with the primary and grammar, it would double the value of the work that is now being done in those schools. Your grammar school should fit directly for the high school, but whether it can be done well under the present plan is a question.

The advanced class now numbers five. These are pursuing the regular studies leading to the high school work. The class is a strong one, well up in grade, and I would recommend that grammar school graduation take place in June, at which time members of this class maintaining a certain standing would receive from the hands of the Committee a certified diploma for the work done. This step will enhance the value of your school by exacting a certain amount of specific work to be done, and demanding a certain standard to be maintained. It would also encourage pupils to go forward to the completion of the course by aiming at the special goal. It would also increase the interest of the people and center it about the grammar department which is so important in being the last step in school life of so many of our pupils. All this would tend to hold up the standard of the grammar school and thereby make the training one desirable to possess.

RECOMMENDATIONS :—I wish to make the following recommendation for books and appliances :

1. The adoption of the readers that follow the Rational Phonics.
2. An extended list of literature for the History and Literature course to be selected during the summer vacation.
3. Sand tables for molding for all the schools.
4. The purchase of a complete set of geographical readers for each school.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANCIS S. BRICK.

TO THE CITIZENS OF GRANVILLE:

The suit brought by this town against Westfield to recover money paid by mistake for aid to Jennie Lee, has been decided against this town. But the judge has granted the privilege of a new hearing.

The first case we had called to our attention was that of Margaret J. Cowles, wife of Edwin J. Cowles, late of this town, who was confined at Tewksbury, and whose board was charged to this town. He lived in this town seven years and paid taxes enough to give him a settlement. But before giving up investigating, we called on Dr Bartlett, at Marshfield, formerly of this town. We found on looking over his books he had aided the Cowles family on July 11, 12, 13 and 17, also on August 17, 1896, for which aid the town paid him, he being at that time town physician.

The next case was that of Laura Cowles, wife of Samuel Cowles, son of Edwin J. Cowles. Samuel Cowles not having gained a settlement, would take that of his father, and if Edwin J. Cowles' settlement had not been defeated here this woman would have gained a settlement here, and as she was sick at the time of the notice would have been a burden on this town.

The next case was that of Jesse Smith, son of Peter

Smith, who held a settlement in this town. Jesse Smith asked medical aid for his eyes. Dr Rockwell rendered what aid was possible outside of an infirmary. We took him to Boston and had his eyes operated on. . We took up his case and on investigation, found that the state in the future would be his guardian.

The next case was that of our old friend, Luther Gardner, and family. We went to the town of Holland and visited the family. Found on investigation that there was a chance to get rid of them. Following up the clues that we obtained from visiting the family we disposed of them. Some are on the state. Some on the town of Wales.

On August 24th we were notified that Frank G. Smidth, wife and three children, were in Springfield on expense to this town. The wife is the daughter of Luther Gardner, and has been aided by this town nearly every year since her marriage. Her husband, Frank G. Smidth, is a state pauper, and has no settlement in the state, therefore the wife follows the settlement of her father, and as we were able to get rid of the Gardner family, we were able to get rid of this family also.

We were notified by the overseers of the poor at Blandford, that Munroe Franklin Mallison, son of Franklin Mallison, was on expense to this town. Tried to communicate with the father but could not find him. We then notified State Agent Bullock, and he had the child brought into court and the judge gave the child into the custody of the state.

Library Trustees.

Owing to the poor accommodations for books, we have not thought it desirable to use the funds appropriated for the purchase of new ones, until the completion of the new library. On January 27th the trustees took possession of the new Free Public Library building, which was on that day presented to the town by the Granville Library Club and the Hon. Milton B. Whitney, through whose efforts and generosity this building was erected and furnished at an expense of $13,500.00. The books belonging to the town library are now being collected for the purpose of making a catalogue. At this date there are 902 books in the building and about 20 yet to be collected. New books will be added immediately. The Library Club having charge of the amusement and reading rooms, have already a sufficient quantity of games, etc., for the entertainment of the young people and have ordered 18 daily, weekly and monthly publications of sufficient variety to satisfy all. It is their desire to open these rooms every evening, excepting Sundays, and we believe they will prove successful from the beginning. February 11th, the Library Club elected Miss Cora A. Noble Library Trustee to serve for three years. We expect that the building will be opened before this reaches you. We ask for your hearty cooperation and assistance, that our united efforts may result in the new library proving a source of entertainment and great good to the whole community, as was intended by the donors.

Respectfully submitted,

School Committee's Report.

---

The report of the Granville school committee for the year ending Feb. 10, 1902.

TO THE CITIZENS OF GRANVILLE:

Again we must report the resignation of the superintendent. Francis Brick resigned Dec. 1, 1901, having served only 18 months of school years.

This frequent change of superintendents is detrimental to our schools, as it takes a new man at least three months to get the schools learned with the help he can get from former superintendent and school board. The joint board always make the condition that superintendents shall stay two years, but as you will see the contract was broken.

Mr. Brick resigned to accept a similar position in the Uxbridge district.

The vacancy was filled by Walter Gushee, principal of the Penacook schools, New Hampshire.

There seems to be a general awakening in desire among our pupils to attend the High school. We hope the parents will work with the teachers in cultivating this desire.

We are glad to report the following pupils in Westfield High school: Susie Phelon, Lucy Phelon, Lucy A. Phelon, Nellie Sullivan, Fanny Root, Ruth Gaines, Harry Holcomb.

Annie Sullivan and Louise Bronson are in the 9th grade, Westfield, preparing for the High.

Westfield school board made the concession to Granville that our pupils will be admitted to the High on probation if our supervisor and teachers consider them fitted.

We wish to speak a word of recommendation for the faithfulness and willing spirit shown by our teachers.

Only one teacher resigned at the close of her first term, if her services were longer desired.

The following permanent repairs have been made: Slate boards and the room ceiled at No. 2, new fence at South Lane and North Lane, and school house shingled at North Lane, new steps at Ore Hill.

The pupils were transported from South Lane to the grammar and primary during the spring and fall. School was held in the district during the winter. Pupils were also transported to Ore Hill from Southwest district and South Lane, West Granville, during fall and winter terms.

Beech Hill school has been in session only 24 weeks and Ore Hill 30 weeks, owing to the measles, which became an epidemic in that section. The time will be made up during the next year.

We received about $300 more from Massachusetts School Fund than any previous year, owing to a deal made in the invested funds. Next year the income will go back to the original sum. Because of this good fortune and unexpended balance of last year the appropriations can be cut down about $500.

We recommend the following repairs: Fence at Beech Hill, slate boards at Ore Hill, and the halls ceiled at the grammar building.

We respectfully ask for the following appropriations: $1,500 for teachers' and superintendent's salaries and fuel, $400 for transportation, $150 for books and supplies, $150 for repairs.

We have drawn orders for the following amounts.

Superintendent's Report.

---

School Committee of Granville,

MADAM AND GENTLEMEN:

I respectfully submit the customary annual report of the superintendent of schools for the year ending February, 1902.

As far as the present superintendent is concerned it can hardly be called an annual report, since it is the result of only ten weeks observation and work on his part.

I shall necessarily confine myself to general impressions only concerning the condition of the schools.

The retiring superintendent, Mr. F. S. Brick, very kindly assisted me in getting hold of the work by visiting nearly all of the schools in the district with me before leaving for his new field of labor.

Coming into the district, as I did, before the completion of the school year, I have endeavored, as far as possible, to carry out the plans of my predecessor.

The schools generally are in the way of doing good work. The town evidently has been liberal in furnishing good accommodations for its schools, the school houses being pleasant, commodious, well-equipped, and generally in good repair.

The teachers I find faithful, conscientious and capable, and ready to co-operate with the superintendent in carrying out his plans.

The valuable service rendered the district by former superintendents is very apparent, especially in the matter of outlining courses of study and in systematizing the work throughout the many schools.

I have taken pains during the few weeks that I have been with you to give critical study to the work being done in reading and arithmetic and have formed definite conclusions concerning these subjects.

Two years ago the Rational System of teaching reading was adopted by the schools throughout the district. The results being obtained are highly gratifying. The pupils are reading with expression, are able to get the thought, and above all gain power which enables them to progress rapidly. The schools are well supplied with supplementary reading material, which, evidently, has been selected with great care, with a view to cultivating a taste for good literature.

In arithmetic the results are not so satisfactory. Dr. A. W. Edson says: "There is a phase of education likely to be neglected in these latter days, namely, mental training, discipline, power. The many subjects and lack of time are apt to lead to superficial treatment. There is a tendency to talk, to tell, to assist, to do for the child what he ought to be made to do for himself, and thus to violate the first law of good teaching."

No subject is better designed to give this mental training than is arithmetic, properly taught, and any system that overlooks the importance of this fact will fail in accomplishing the great end of education, power—ability "to observe closely, to record correctly, to compare justly and to express cogently."

There is a limit to the amount of work that can be done, and that limit must obviously be reached sooner in the rural schools where the teachers have from four to nine grades to handle than in the graded schools of our cities and larger towns where the teachers have only one or two grades in a room. Remember that it is not number of pupils altogether that affects the amount of work that can be done, but more particularly the number of classes. We should also take into consideration the fact that our school year is shorter by quite a number of weeks than the year of the larger towns and there are other factors to be taken into account, teachers not so well paid and our consequent lack of ability to retain good teachers, etc.

Taking all this into consideration, it seems a great mistake to try to follow too closely in the track of the cities. Something must be sacrificed. Shall it be quantity or quality? By all means not the latter. We must go thoroughly. We must in sist upon a definite understanding of underlying principles. A disposition to hurry, to cover lots of ground, to neglect the fundamentals, which has been too prevalent of late, has certainly had deleterious results. Such methods beget bad habits of study, careless thinking and a slipshod manner of treating everything. Pupils lack the power of concentration, the ability to grapple in a masterly way with a hard proposition.

Power is what we want. Power that will enable the pupil on leaving school to continue winning battles. On completing his work in the common schools, his education has but just begun. His future progress, his ability to grow will depend upon power acquired by proper expenditure of energy while at school.

We do not overlook the importance of creating in the pupil a "thirst for knowledge," but mental discipline must come first or at least simultaneously. The trained swimmer enjoys battling with the waves, and seeks such encounters; so the properly disciplined mind, confident in its ability to meet and surmount difficulties, enjoys grappling with new problems and has a natural yearning for knowledge.

Give the pupil the proper mental equipment and he goeth forth from school rejoicing "as a strong man to run a race."

I would respectfully call your attention to the appended table of statistics.

In conclusion I wish to thank you for the generous consideration and valuable assistance you have given me in the assumption of my new duties.

Respectfully submitted,

W. E. GUSHEE, Superintendent.

Names of children who have not been absent for the past three terms, Ore Hill school, West Granville, are as follows:—

Fred Frisbee,
Porter Frisbee,
Laura Welch.

There are no children in school who have not been either absent or tardy.

SUSAN MERRILL, Teacher.

TOWN WARRANT.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

HAMPDEN SS.

To either of the constables of the } GREETING:
town of Granville.

In the name of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts you are hereby directed to notify and warn the inhabitants of the town of Granville, in said county, qualified to vote in town affairs, to meet at the town hall in said Granville, on Monday, the second day of March next, at ten o'clock a. m., then and there to act on the following articles.

ARTICLE 1st. To chose a moderator to preside at said meeting.

ART. 2nd. To bring in and deposit their ballots for a town clerk, a town treasurer, three selectmen, three assessors, three overseers of the poor, an auditor, a collector of taxes, a tree warden, and two constables, and a highway surveyor, all for one year, and one library trustee for three years.

ART. 3rd. To choose all necessary town officers.

ART. 4th. To vote "Yes," or "No," on the question, "Shall license be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors in this town?"

ART. 5th. To hear the annual report of the selectmen, assessors, overseers of the poor, town treasurer, and school committee and act thereon.

ART. 6th. To determine the manner of repairing the highways for the ensuing year.

ART. 7th. To raise such sums of money as may be deemed necessary to defray town charges for the ensuing year, and appropriations of the same.

ART. 8th. To see if the town will accept the list of jurors as prepared by the selectmen.

ART. 9th. To determine the manner of collecting taxes for the ensuing year and decide what the compensation shall be.

ART. 10th. To see if the town will vote to authorize its treasurer, with the approval of the selectmen, to borrow money in anticipation of the payment of taxes for the current year.

ART. 11th. To see if the town will vote to adopt a by-law in regard to licensing dogs.

ART. 12th. To see what appropriation the town will make of the money received from the dog fund.

ART. 13th. To raise such sums of money as may be deemed necessary, for the maintenance of soldiers and sailors, and their widows, in accordance with the provisions of Chap. 298 of the Acts of 1889.

ART. 14th. To see what action the town will take in regard to furnishing wood for the school houses.

ART. 15th. To see if the town will vote to buy bonds for its town officers and appropriate money for the same.

ART. 16th. To see if the town will choose one or more persons to take charge of all lawsuits that may be brought by or against the town, within the ensuing year.

ART. 17th. To see if the town will vote to make field drivers pound keepers, and use their yards for pounds.

ART. 18th. To see if the town will vote to choose a board of assessors, and if so, to place their names on the official ballot, for future election.

ART. 19th. To see if the town will vote to buy a piece of land for a dumping ground and make appropriations for the same.

ART. 20th. To see what action the town will take in regard to repairing or building a new bridge on the site of the old "Drum Shop" bridge.

ART. 21st. To see what action the town will take in the matter of holding "Old Home Week," services as authorized by the state law, and make appropriations for the same.

ART. 22nd. To see if the town will vote to appropriate a sum of money, for the purpose of cleaning up Trumbell Lane.

ART. 23d. To see if the town will raise and appropriate any sum of money for the enforcement of the laws to prevent the illegal sale of liquors.

And you are directed to serve this warrant by posting up attested copies thereof, at each of the usual places in town for posting such notices, seven days at least, before the time for holding said meeting.

Hereof fail not, and make due returns of this warrant, with your doings thereon, to the town clerk, at the time and place of meeting as aforesaid.

Given under our hands this twentieth day of February, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and three.

We invite the attention of the taxpayers to the foregoing report. The expenses of this department have exceeded the appropriation, and the reasons are as follows:

Mary Randell, wife of Charles Randell, who has a settlement in this town through his father. Mary Randell was found badly hurt on Narrows Hill near the Westfield line. She was taken to the Noble hospital, at Westfield, where she remained twenty-four weeks, costing the town ($104.) Her board since that time has been ($50) more. We had her husband before the district court for non-support, the judge ordered him to pay her board. He promised to do so, but has failed so to do, and has gone to Connecticut. This woman will be able to work soon, and has got to do so.

Daniel Lynch case, is that of an old citizen and tax-payer who was taken very ill, and had to have extra care. The doctor's bills, care and board amounted to ($187.65.) His sons have taken him away, and now care for him.

The E. J. Foley family have been sick a great deal, the wife has been to the Noble hospital, and last heard from them she was sick at home. We have paid ($117.98) thus far this year, and there are bills now due to Westfield for their support. It seems almost impossible to reduce the expenses in this department. We have heard that this world owes everyone a living, but it seems to us that Granville is the place they expect to get it, for nothing. We would recommend that the town instruct the Overseers of the Poor to hire a farm and move these poor on to it, that have no homes, and are continually calling to the town for aid.

REPORT OF
LIBRARY TRUSTEES,

FOR YEAR 1902.

REPORT

Library Trustees.

The books belonging to the town, which had been kept in the Baptist and Congregational chapels, and numbering about 900 volumes, besides the public documents, were moved to the new library building early in Feb. 1902 where they were classified and catalogued. The library was opened to the public Feb. 22nd and has since been open every Wednesday and Saturday from 2 to 5 and from 6.30 to 9 o'clock. The town has bought during the year 161 books at a cost of $141.94, the state has given 65 books valued at $50 and there have been various other small contributions, so that there are now approximately 1143 volumes. The circulation to Feb. 1st, 1903, was 2524. The trustees arranged for a branch library at Granville Center where 100 books were delivered at the time the main library was opened. There has been a circulation there of 117 books. Another branch has recently been opened in West Granville, having at present 50 books. The Granville Library Club has supplied games, etc., for the amusement room and two daily newspapers, six weeklies and ten monthly magazines for the reading room. Both amusement and reading rooms have been open each evening excepting Sundays and holidays. There has been a circulation of 469 magazines which were loaned by the Library Club after they had been in the reading room one month. The town and the library club have shared equally in the expenses of lighting and heating of the building, the janitor's salary and incidental expenses, while the town has paid the salary of the librarian, and the Library Club that of the attendant of the reading and amusement rooms.

Superintendent's Report.

To the School Committee of Granville.

I herewith submit my second annual report of the schools of Granville, it being the twelfth in the series of reports since the supervision district was formed.

COURSE OF STUDY.

Outside the work of visitation considerable time has been given during the year to arranging outlines and courses of study. In planning these courses the aim has been to cover the work required for admission to the Westfield High School and at the same time work in conformity with the text books in use, keeping in mind all of the time the fact that our schools are rural schools with many grades in a room.

This latter consideration must necessarily modify the character of the outlines to quite an extent. Where possible, we have grouped the grades into three divisions, Primary, Intermediate and Grammar, three grades in each division, thereby lessening the number of recitations without materially interfering with the efficiency of the work done.

Courses in the following subjects have been adopted and are now in use in the schools: Language and Grammar, Arithmetic, Drawing, Geography, History and Literature. The courses in the last three mentioned subjects should, during the next year, be examined carefully and amended somewhat. It is my plan to complete, during the following spring term, a course in Elementary Science upon which I am now working, and to arrange a more definite outline in Reading. It is painfully evident that one of the subjects in which our pupils are weakest to-day is Spelling. I recommend the adoption of some modern graded spelling book and more definite and systematic work in this branch.

TEACHERS.

We are fortunate in having the services of an efficient corps of teachers, most of them having received special training for their work and all excepting two having had previous experience in teaching.

In general the pupils have made good progress during the year, and in several schools the work has been eminently satisfactory.

In the North Lane and South Lane Schools the work has been somewhat broken up by changes in teachers during the year, six teachers having been engaged for these two schools. One of these teachers did not even go to the school, two left preemptorily, evidently on account of home sickness, and the others left to take better positions.

It is to be regretted that some teachers have so little regard for the obligations of a contract. It would be wise, I think, in selecting teachers for such schools, to engage, if possible, those who have lived in the country and who have attended or taught rural schools.

BOOKS.

We believe that there should be a regular text book to be used as a standard in each subject, and that all of the schools should be adequately supplied.

Last year the Wentworth series of Arithmetics was adopted as the standard and enough of the elementary books purchased to supply all of the schools. There were already enough of the Grammar School Arithmetics of that series to supply the higher grades.

This year the Cyr Fifth Reader has been purchased for the higher grades. This makes the Cyr series complete.

We have adopted the Hyde Two Book Course in English as the standard in Language and Grammar, and enough of these books have been ordered to fully equip all of the schools. These take the place of the Southworth and Goddard series, which books were completely worn out, they having been in use many years.

Barnes United States History is considered the standard in history. Enough of these histories have recently been ordered to supply all the Eighth and Ninth Grades.

In addition to the regular textbooks the schools are also supplied with many reference and supplementary books. Teachers are expected to encourage the intelligent use of such books as well as those from the public library in those schools that are fortunate enough to have access to it. They should also instruct pupils in making wise selections therefrom.

SCHOOL FURNISHINGS.

Nothing has been done during the past year towards placing slate blackboards in any of the schools.

It has been your plan, I understand, to equip at least one school each year with slate boards until all the schools shall be so furnished. Would it not be possible during the next year to equip two buildings thus and so not lose ground in this matter?

Sets of Rand, McNally maps, on spring rollers, have been placed in the Granville Grammar, Granville Hill and Ore Hill schools. I would recommend that at least two schools be furnished each year with these maps until they are all supplied. This is an essential to good work in Geography.

STATISTICS.

I would call your attention to the appended table of statistics. It has seemed advisable in making out the statistical report to consider the school year ending in June 1902, and thus avoid the uncertainties and inaccuracies naturally resulting from the use of two sets of registers in compiling a report.

The roll of honor, consisting of the names of pupils who have had perfect attendance is also given on another page.

CONCLUSION.

There has been without doubt, during the years that have passed under our observation, much progress made along educational lines of work. It is not to be expected, however, that the development of any system of education will be in an unbroken line of progress. The great law of evolution provides for temporary retrogrades and we cannot reasonably expect that the educational field should be any exception to the rule.

The last fifteen or twenty years has been a period of unusual activity in the matter of experimenting with new educational methods and devices, and, doubtless, there has been a tendency with some of us at times to soar unchecked in the realms of the ideal, losing sight of that which is more rational and practical.

Superintendent Pitman of Marlboro has well said that "valuable time is often saved by seeking to perfect old methods instead of attempting to invent new ones."

I desire in conclusion to thank both teachers and members of the committee for their hearty support and co-operation with me to the end that the schools may attain a higher standard of excellence.

I am also under obligations to the committee for the freedom allowed me and the support accorded me in the administration of the duties of my office.

Respectfully submitted,

W. E. GUSHEE.

School Committee's Report.

TO THE CITIZENS OF GRANVILLE:

As we submit the annual report of the school committee for the year ending February 10, 1903, there are no radical changes to report.

With one exception the schools at the close of the winter term will have been in session thirty-three and three-fifths weeks. The Northeast School is one week short on the winter term on account of illness of the teacher.

We have certain ambitions for our schools and are trying to work toward those ideals as fast as circumstances will permit. As the conditions are more favorable in some schools than in others, more has been accomplished in those schools. While in some cases the gain has not been as great as we would like to have it, a degree of progress has been made in all the schools.

The superintendent had been with the schools ten weeks the previous year, so he had the work somewhat in hand and entered upon the year's work with enthusiasm and earnestness.

He has endeavored to outline courses of study and present methods adapted to our country schools—with few scholars, many classes and a short school year.

The teachers have manifested the same spirit in co-operating with him to carry out his plans.

Changes have taken place among the teachers caused by resignation for better positions. The fall term opened with but two teachers who commenced the spring term. This is one of the unfavorable conditions to the best progress of our schools.

As a rule the teachers have been faithful and conscientious in their work, not only in the mental training that has been given but also in that moral training which helps to establish good habits and right principles of conduct.

A very serious drawback to the progress of our schools is the irregular attendance. Absence, tardiness and dismissal are a great injury. Superintendent may present the very best in courses of study, teachers labor ever so faithfully, it is effort and time wasted if pupils are absent every few days. We can only lay the blame for this on the parent or guardian. It is you who are legally responsible for your child's attendance at school. You are defrauding your child and your neighbor's child by every absence. You are wasting your own and your neighbor's hard earned dollars. We are not getting the returns for the money invested in our schools we would receive if parents and guardians were doing all in their power to keep their children promptly in school. It is impossible to keep children, habitually absent, up to their grade. It is unjust to keep those children, who are regular in attendance, back, that the delinquents may make up what they lost during absence. We kindly call your attention to this fact, and ask your full support to remedy this glaring defect in our schools.

No large repairs have been made on any of the buildings. Ore Hill building will need shingling the coming year.

The long-felt need of geographical maps has been supplied in three of the buildings.

The insurance has been renewed on all but two of the school houses.

Pupils from South Lane and Southwest schools, West Granville, have been transported to Ore Hill.

Two terms of school have been in session in South Lane. The scholars were transported during the spring term to the grammar and primary schools.

The following pupils have been in the Westfield High School the past year: Lucy Phelon, Susie Phelon, Fanny Root, Ruth Gaines.

Mary Welch, Willie Arnold, Margaret Tice, Eddie Arnold, Willie Barnes are attending the graded schools in Westfield.

If all the bills for this year's expenses were paid there would be no balance in the treasury.

We recommend the following appropriations for the ensuing year: $1,500 for superintendent's and teachers' salaries and fuel, $400 for transportation, $200 for books and supplies, $250 for repairs.

We have drawn orders for the following amounts.

HAMPDEN S. S.

To either of the constables of the town of Granville. } GREETING:

In the name of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, you are hereby directed to notify and warn the inhabitants of the town of Granville, in said county, qualified to vote in town affairs, to meet at the town hall in said Granville, on Monday, the seventh day of March next, the polls to be open at ten o'clock, and may be closed at half past two o'clock, unless prolonged by a vote of the town, then and there to act on the following articles:

ARTICLE 1. To chose a moderator to preside at said meeting.

ART. 2. To bring in and deposit their ballots for a town clerk, a town treasurer, three selectmen, three assessors, three overseers of the poor, an auditor, a collector of taxes, a tree warden, and two constables, and a highway surveyor, all for one year, and one library trustee for three years.

ART. 3. To choose all necessary town officers.

ART. 4. To vote "Yes," or "No," on the question, "Shall license be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors in this town?"

ART. 5. To hear the annual report of the selectmen, assessors, overseers of the poor, town treasurer, and school committee and act thereon.

ART. 6. To determine the manner of repairing the highways for the ensuing year.

ART. 7. To raise such sums of money as may be deemed necessary to defray town charges for the ensuing year, and appropriations of the same.

ART. 8. To see if the town will accept the list of jurors as prepared by the selectmen.

ART. 9. To determine the manner of collecting taxes for the ensuing year and decide what the compensation shall be.

ART. 10. To see if the town will vote to authorize its treasurer, with the approval of the selectmen, to borrow money in anticipation of the payment of taxes for the current year.

ART. 11. To see if the town will vote to adopt a by-law in regard to licensing dogs.

ART. 12. To see what appropriation the town will make of the money received from the dog fund.

ART. 13. To raise such sums of money as may be deemed necessary, for the maintenance of soldiers and sailors and their widows, in accordance with the provisions of Chap. 298 of the Acts of 1889.

ART. 14. To see what action the town will take in regard to furnishing wood for the school houses.

ART. 15. To see if the town will vote to buy bonds for its town officers and appropriate money for the same.

ART. 16. To see if the town will choose one or more persons to take charge of all lawsuits that may be brought by or against the town, within the ensuing year.

ART. 17. To see if the town will vote to make field drivers pound keepers, and use their yards for pounds.

ART. 18. To see what action the town will take in the matter of holding "Old Home Week," services as authorized by the state law, and make appropriations for the same.

ART. 19. To see if the town will vote to raise any sum of money to add to any sum of money the State may grant, for permanent road work and make appropriation for the same.

ART. 20. To see if the town will vote to determine where future caucuses are to be held.

And you are directed to serve this warrant by posting up attested copies thereof, at each of the usual places in town for posting such notices, seven days at least, before the time for holding said meeting.

Hereof fail not, and make due returns of this warrant, with your doings thereon, to the town clerk, at the time and place of meeting as aforesaid.

Given under our hands this twentieth day of February, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and four.

Public Library.

The library, of which Miss Mabel H. Root is librarian, has been open Wednesdays and Saturdays from 2 to 5 and from 6:30 to 9 o'clock.

There has been a circulation of 2,038 books from the main library, 226 in W. Granville and 153 in Granville Center, making a total of 2,417. There have also been circulated 688 magazines which were loaned by the Granville library club.

The town has bought 92 books at a cost of $121.69. Mrs. Abbie L. Cooley of Pittsfield, and her daughter, Frances Cooley Hammond, have presented 278 vols., R. B. Cooley 50 vols., W. S. Loomis of Holyoke has given $15.00 to buy a copy of Poole's Index, 19 vols. of the vital statistics of as many towns have been received from the State, the library club has had bound and has presented to the public library the Century magazine, Harper's and St. Nicholas for 1902, and several smaller gifts have been received so that the library now numbers over 1,600 volumes. There was exhibited in the library in March a collection of photographs loaned by the Woman's Educational Society. The same society loaned one of the Audubon libraries, consisting of 22 vols., and a collection of bird pictures for six months, and the books were circulated as our own books are.

The town and the library club have shared equally in the lighting and heating of the building, the janitor's salary and incidental expenses, while the town has paid the salary of the librarian and the club that of the attendant of the reading and amusement rooms as they did the preceding year. The reading room has been open evenings, excepting Sundays and holidays, and Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

The library club has supplied it with two daily papers, six weeklies and eleven monthly magazines, and four other publications have been given by interested friends.

School Committee's Report.

TO THE CITIZENS OF GRANVILLE:

The School Committee submit herewith their annual report.

We are glad to be able to report that all the schools have been in session thirty-four weeks. With the severe weather of the past winter it has been a question in some cases if it would not have been better to close the schools and put the time on the terms of the warmer months.

While changes have occurred in the teachers we have been able to retain half of the force of last year.

Again we were obliged to have a change of superintendent. As according to the present state laws, that all small towns must unite for the purpose of employing a superintendent, the towns of Tolland and Sandisfield were obliged to enter a district. The town of Agawam decided to withdraw from the district composed of towns of Agawam, Southwick and Granville. A new district was formed of the towns of Southwick, Granville, Tolland and Sandisfield. Granville was to have thirty per cent. (30 per cent.) of the time, Southwick the same, Tolland and Sandisfield each had twenty per cent. of the time.

The school committee of these towns met, and after considering the applications of a large number of candidates for the superintendency, choice was made of Mr. Burr J. Merriam, superintendent of the schools of Penacook, New Hampshire. Mr. Merriam has been connected with the schools since September.

Mr. Walter E. Gushee was superintendent during the spring term, when he was elected to the supervision of the new district formed by the union of the towns of Agawam and Ludlow.

Mr. Merriam has endeavored to follow out the courses of study and plans for work in a way that the break made by the change in superintendents might be felt as little as possible.

We commend superintendents and teachers for all the earnest and efficient work done during the year.

The repairs on most of the buildings have been slight. Ore Hill school-house has been shingled. New closets have been made at the South Lane building. Slate blackboards have been put into the Granville Hill school room. Sets of maps have been placed in the South Lane and Northeast school rooms. The insurance has been renewed on one school-house.

Pupils from South Lane and Southwest schools, West Granville, have been transported to Ore Hill.

The Legislature has passed a law which distributes an added amount of the school fund to the smaller towns for the purpose of increasing the efficiency of the schools in the way of longer terms and the employment of higher grade of teachers. The amount to come to Granville will be near $400.

The state secretary states in his letter that "The intent of the law is to improve the schools, not to lessen local taxation, and the towns that devote to school purposes the largest proportion of their tax will receive the largest proportionate amount of aid."

To hold good teachers in our schools we must pay fair salaries and each year new books are needed in addition to the regular supplies. Your committee try to have good schools at as low a cost as possible.

The town has paid high school tuition for the following pupils: Fannie Root, Lucy Phelon, Mary Welch, Harry Holcomb, William J. Arnold, William Barnes, Westfield High school; Nancy Roberts, Springfield High school; Fred Davis, Amherst High school.

We recommend the following appropriations for the ensuing year: $1,500.00 for superintendent's and teachers' salaries and fuel, $400.00 for transportation, $200.00 for books and supplies, $250.00 for repairs.

We have drawn orders for the following amounts.

School Superintendent's Report.

Members of the School Committee:

In conformity with custom I hereinafter present the superintendent's report for the schools of Granville. This is the thirteenth report of its kind and the first under the new union of towns.

The year has been one of extraordinary changes in local and state educational interests. The supervision union of twelve years standing has been dissolved, Tolland and Sandisfield taking the place of Agawam, and Southwick being retained. Your present superintendent began his duties here since the last report, 50 per cent of our teachers found employment elsewhere, and the state has put into effect legislation whereby towns of our valuation may receive additional support from the income of the State School Fund, if the amount appropriated for the support of schools is one-sixth, or more, of the whole local tax and the town complies with the laws relative to schools. The amount received this year is $452.63 more than last year. The state does not expect the towns thus benefited to reduce the amount given to schools by local taxation, but to apply the additional money to increase the length of the school year, to make the salaries of the teachers in our outlying schools larger, to provide better school books and school fixtures, or for all of these. Your superintendent understands the extremely high tax rate of this town. He is mindful of the increase of town expenses and the decrease of valuation as the years pass. He knows that economy with public funds should be held constantly in mind by those having to do with the disbursement of them, nevertheless he is of the opinion that it would not be the part of wisdom or of economy to make any reduction in the amount given by this town to its schools. Towns around us are increasing the length of the school year and also the salaries of their teachers.

It is reported that Granby is to pay all its teachers $9 or more. Ludlow and Agawam have already applied the increase to length of year and salary. The change of 50 per cent of our teachers during the year has nearly all been because of the scant salary, $7 in some instances and $3 out for board. This town has been doing in the past all that it could afford to do for its schools. I feel sure that when the tax payers consider that our school year is shorter than the school year in a large number of towns of the state similar to ours, and that our teachers go elsewhere if they are able to get a larger salary, they will be willing to give the usual amount to the schools. Such action will make possible what has hitherto seemed impossible; stronger financial backing for our schools. It would be wise to make the winter term longer in order that those pupils who come in for the winter only may get as much benefit as we are able to give to them. In the schools having only small pupils the extra time might be added at another time, if the winter term came during inclement weather.

The teacher who has had the benefit of professional training is not, in every case, a better teacher than the teacher who has not had such training but it is true that in results obtained and general teaching ability a given number of professionally trained teachers will average higher than the same number of untrained teachers. The tend toward higher salaries, all over our country, will cause more young ladies to fit themselves for teaching. We think that the number of trained teachers in our schools compares favorably with other similar towns of the state. We are fortunate in having several teachers of exceptional ability and aptitude for teaching. They are interested in their work, do their very best and are calling out the best traits of the pupils. Their schools are a credit to themselves and to the town. We shall lose them with great regret. Several who have left during the early part of the year are well spoken of.

It is the plan of your superintendent to continue the principal lines of work as laid out by his predecessor. They were practical for our schools and that is what we hope all work required may be.

Teachers' meetings for the help and encouragement of the teachers have been held. The things talked about have been, for the most part, suggested by things observed while the superintendent was visiting the schools. No school time has been taken for these meetings. They have been held Saturday mornings and the attendance of teachers, though voluntary, has been good. Teachers have often given up other things to attend.

The outlines in several subjects are being modified, mostly after consultation with the teachers and after much thought and study of our needs. These new outlines are to be in use with the spring term. A reading outline which places great value on phonetic work in the lower grades and the importance of reading good literature in the upper grades, has been placed in the schools during the fall term. Pupils in the upper grammar grades are required to prepare a paper each term on a book approved by the superintendent. This is one of the means used to increase the utility of our splendid public library for books of literary value. Your superintendent realizes the need of creating in school children of to-day a desire for good literature. This has been the thought in selecting such books as the following for reading and study in the upper grades; Vision of Sir Launfal, Lady of the Lake, Sketch book, Lamb's Tales from Shakespeare, King of the Golden River, Talisman, Miles Standish, Evangeline, Snow Bound.

With the opening of the spring term we hope to replace the worn out Frye geographies with the new edition of the same book. We got a fair exchange rate for the old books. We are expecting to add some spelling books also. A card registration of books whereby a more accurate record of the books, the location and in what schools they are lost, may be kept, is under consideration. Progress record books are kept each month by the teachers. They write in them what work they have done for the month and the superintendent inspects this and uses them as guides in giving examinations.

Attendance records for all the schools of the union district are issued each month and are free to any citizen who may wish them. We shall be glad to supply taxpayers with copies of the new law spoken of in the first part of this report.

Additional maps have been bought for those schools without any. Two schools are still in need of them. Slate boards have taken the place of wooden ones at the Center school. These needed school room fixtures are appreciated by the teachers.

The winter attendance has been lower than last year. We know that the winter has been unusual; but many of the pupils who are out most and frequently, for little cause, are those near the school house. Many pupils have walked long distances in order to be in school each school day. They are to be commended. Inconstant attendance causes breaks in the work which cannot be repaired. Parents, keep your children in school as much as possible. Attention is called to the honor pupils and to the statistics appended to this report.

I thank you, as members of the committee, for your kindly support. I wish to express my appreciation to the teachers for their universal cooperation and to the citizens for the friendly manner in which they have received me. Let us all work in our several ways steadily and sensibly for the betterment of our schools and other worthy public institutions.

Respectfully submitted,

B. J. MERRIAM, Supt. of Schools.

ART. 2. To bring in and deposit their ballots for a town clerk, a town treasurer, three selectmen, three assessors, three oversers of the poor, an auditor, a collector of taxes, a tree warden, and two constables, and a highway surveyor, all for one year, and one library trustee for three years, school committee for three years.

ART. 3. To choose all necessary town officers.

ART. 4. To vote "Yes," or "No," on the question, "Shall license be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors in this town?"

ART. 5. To hear the annual report of the selectmen, assessors, overseers of the poor, town treasurer, and school committee and act thereon.

ART. 6. To determine the manner of repairing the highways for the ensuing year.

ART. 7. To raise such sums of money as may be deemed necessary to defray town charges for the ensuing year, and appropriations of the same.

ART. 8. To see if the town will accept the list of jurors as prepared by the selectmen.

ART. 9. To determine the manner of collecting taxes for the ensuing year and decide what the compensation shall be.

ART. 10. To see if the town will vote to authorize its treasurer, with the approval of the selectmen, to borrow money in anticipation of the payment of taxes for the current year.

ART. 11. To see if the town will revoke any acceptance it has made of any provision of law for the election of a highway surveyor.

ART. 12. To see what appropriation the town will make of the money received from the dog fund.

ART. 13. To raise such sums of money as may be deemed necessary, for the maintenance of soldiers and sailors and their widows, in accordance with the provisions of Chap. 298 of the Acts of 1889.

ART. 14. To see what action the town will take in regard to furnishing wood for the school houses.

ART. 15. To see if the town will vote to buy bonds for its town officers and appropriate money for the same.

ART. 16. To see if the town will choose one or more persons to take charge of all lawsuits that may be brought by or against the town, within the ensuing year.

ART. 17. To see if the town will vote to make field drivers pound keepers and use their yards for pounds.

ART. 18. To see if the town will vote to repair the highway in front of James W. Johnson's house, and make appropriation for the same.

ART. 19. To see if the town will vote to raise any sum of money to add to any sum of money the State may grant, for permanent road work and make appropriation for the same.

ART. 20. To see if the town will vote to take any action in regard to licensing peddlers and junk dealers.

And you are directed to serve this warrant by posting up attested copies thereof, at each of the usual places in town for posting such notices, seven days at least, before the time for holding said meeting.

Hereof fail not, and make due returns of this warrant, with your doings thereon, to the town clerk, at the time and place of meeting as aforesaid.

Report of Trustees of the Public Library.

The library, Miss Mabel H. Root, librarian, has been open Wednesdays and Saturdays from 2 to 5 and from 6:30 to 9 o'clock.

There has been a circulation of 2,196 volumes from the main library, an increase of 158 over the preceding year, while 903 magazines, loaned by the library club, have also been circulated, 215 more than the year before.

The Granville Center branch has circulated 219 volumes, 66 more than during the preceding year. In West Granville, the circulation from February 1 to July 1, was 49. The books were returned in the summer and the trustees regret that they have since been unable to make satisfactory arrangements for their care there, but hope to do so soon, as they wish the public library to benefit as many citizens of the town as possible.

The town has bought 106 new books at a cost of $106.97. Mrs. C. A. Noble has presented a set of the Rand McNally atlas of the world, Miss May Noble has given 20 bound volumes of Scribner's magazines, the library club has given bound volumes of the Century, Harper's Magazine and St. Nicholas, 17 volumes of vital records of Massachusetts towns have been received from the state, and there have been several smaller gifts, so that the library contains 1800 books, double the number there were when the new building was opened three years ago.

There was exhibited last summer a collection of photographs of New York city and at present there are on exhibition illustrations of Florence, Italy. In connection with the latter there are 22 books descriptive of or relating to Florence which are loaned as our own. Both of these collections were loaned by the Woman's Education Association.

shared equally in the lighting and heating of the building, the janitor's salary and incidental expenses, the town has paid the salary of the librarian and the club that of the attendant of the reading and amusement rooms.

The reading room has been open evenings, excepting Sundays and holidays, and also Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, and has been supplied by the club with one daily and six weekly papers and thirteen monthly magazines while five periodicals have been given by other friends.

No record has been kept of the afternoon attendance but 1984 have visited it evenings.

Ralph G. Hires resigned as library trustee February 6, so that he might legally serve the town as auditor.

SOME OLD FIGURES.

Fifty years make wonderful changes, in the administration of town affairs as well as elsewhere, and it may therefore be interesting to the present generation to read an extract from a Granville town report of more than half a century ago. On the following pages is given such an extract, reproduced as nearly as possible from the original printed copy, and which will doubtless prove highly interesting to our citizens, for comparison.

School Committee's Report.

---

CITIZENS OF GRANVILLE:

The School Committee herewith submit their annual report.

The schools, with the exception of the South West have been in session thirty-five weeks, an increase of one week over last year. This has been made possible by additional money received from the State School fund.

Due care and thought have been taken in the care and selection of teachers. It is not always possible to gauge a teacher's ability before she has been put to the test of work. In some instances the results have been disappointing.

Teachers have resigned, hired to other towns by increase of salary and modern equipments which we cannot provide.

There are earnest, efficient teachers remaining with us and we take pride in commending their painstaking work.

We have been most fortunate in retaining the services of Superintendent Burr J. Merriam who has not been sparing in thought or work for the advancement of the schools. The courses of study, with the exception of the course in drawing, have been remodeled as need suggested to adapt them to the conditions of the schools. Some new courses have been made out. A justifiable pride can be taken in the fact that we are supplied with outline courses of study fully equal and in some respects superior to those used in towns of longer school year and with better school equipment than our means will allow.

Such has been the expressed opinion of outside teachers who have had an opportunity to examine them.

It has been the misfortune of our schools to have frequent change of supervision. In the continuance of Mr. Merriam can be seen the advantage of having a superintendent who can give the benefit of the experience gained and watch the working out of his ideals.

We plead for the reasonable co-operation of the people in advancing our schools.

In a number of towns in this state educational associations have been formed for the purpose of bringing the parents of pupils and teachers "into a better knowledge and warmer sympathy with each other's work." Such an organization may not be feasible in this town, but the spirit of it can be carried out by each parent keeping in healthy touch with the schools. Visit the schools in a kindly spirit, where you can observe what is being accomplished and also take note of some of the difficulties which the teachers have to meet. Express your appreciation and sympathy.

The pupils from South Lane, West Granville, have been transported to Ore Hill, and those from the Southwest district during the spring and fall terms. During the winter a school has been in session in this district.

The school building in the Southwest district had to be reshungled and generally repaired before it could be occupied. The other permanent repairs have been the reshungling of the out buildings at North Lane and new steps to the school house in Granville.

There has been about the usual amount of minor repairs on all the buildings, such as setting window glass, new door latches, etc., which seem to be in a state of needing repairs most of the time.

Slate blackboards have been put into the Ore Hill school room. The Grammar, Primary, Beech Hill, Ore Hill and Southwest rooms have had new stoves. The old ones were condemned as unsafe.

The insurance has been renewed on one building.

We would recommend the painting of at least two school houses the coming year, furnishing one more room with slate boards and two rooms with sets of maps.

The town has paid high school tuition for the following pupils:

Mary Welch, Harry Holcomb, Silas Hodge, William Arnold, Jessie Dickinson, Westfield; Fred Davis, Amherst; Nancy Roberts, Springfield.

It is very gratifying that the pupils entering the Westfield high school in September were prepared without spending a year in preparation in the ninth grade in the Westfield schools.

The following from State Agent G. T. Fletcher on the influence of country towns seems most timely:

“The influence of the country town of the past through good citizenship upon the welfare of the commonwealth is in a measure now recognized by the state through the large distribution of the income of the school fund.

Possibly the hill towns may regain their former standing in population and property valuation by the coming of foreigners to take up the ‘abandoned farms.’ If so, the money contributed by the state for the support of public schools in these towns including the cost of special supervision was prone to be most timely and valuable.”

We are able to report a balance in the treasury as you will see by examining the financial statement.

We respectfully recommend the following appropriations for the ensuing year: $1,500.00 for superintendent’s and teachers’ salaries and fuel; $400.00 for transportation; $200.00 for books and supplies, and $250.00 for repairs.

We have drawn orders for the following amounts:—

REPORT

OF THE

Superintendent of Schools.

---

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE:

Your superintendent has the honor of hereinafter presenting the customary annual report of Granville schools. This is the fourteenth report of a superintendent and the second under the present union of towns.

This year has been a period during which the educational policy of commonwealth and of town has changed less than during the similar twelve months one year ago. Local benefit is noticeable from the new state law regulating the distribution of the income from the Massachusetts school fund for you have been able to add considerably to the efficiency of nearly all of your schools without increasing the town school appropriation. The amount of money obtainable from the income of the fund for the current year will surpass the increased amount of last year, and by judicious expenditure should place the schools in a better condition than hitherto. The state again makes it clear that it does not desire the small towns receiving this benefit to reduce the usual appropriations for schools. I direct your attention to that part of my last report where the matter is spoken of at length and I again advance the opinion that it would be unwise to make any reduction in the established school appropriation.

As each year passes we need to be more thoughtful about our schools. We should keep in mind that the main business of our schools is to teach the boys and girls of our town, things that are worth while. We wish to include among these things abhorrence of things low and mean, honesty, politeness, diligence, promptness and a desire to excel: While on the side of books the pupil should know how to read understandingly, aloud or silently, write a good hand with correct spelling, do ordinary examples in arithmetic accurately, express his thoughts in good language either written or spoken, and be able to stand on his feet and state clearly what he is doing or has been studying. It is lamentable that the old idea of good rhetorical exercises has passed away, for that work filled a worthy place, as a means to an end, that has since remained unoccupied.

We need to be more thoughtful, again, that the vast amount of education the boys and girls get outside of the school is the best we can make it, by supplementing the good efforts of the teachers. The child cannot get the largest part of good from his period of school days if parents and others do not assist the work of the classroom. There is chance for much improvement in this matter. The following paragraph is from the report of your superintendent for 1894, Mr. U. G. Wheeler.

“Again, if you wish to have good schools and desire to help in securing them, don’t scold about the teacher or criticize the school in any way before your children; don’t allow your children to find fault with the teacher, and when any misunderstanding does arise, go to the teacher, committee or superintendent, and kindly and candidly talk the matter over.”

We need to be more thoughtful, again, that the teachers do their best work. There is nothing that should so much engage their attention as the work they are in. The increased equipment and salary enables you to demand, more than ever, a good grade of work and a teacher of high ideals. Books, maps, outlines of study, nice school rooms and modern utensils are desirable and prolific of much that is good; but the part of a school most essential is a good teacher. She stamps the school as satisfactory or as unsatisfactory more than do all other things together. A good teacher should be one who has a good general education with special knowledge of the branches she is to teach, she should know something of the way a mind develops so that she may have sympathy and her teaching not get beyond the pupil, she should be able to think clearly and express her thoughts logically in accurate and comprehensible language, she should have method in her work studying diligently to improve, she should be pleasant, agreeable and unaffected to her pupils and to the people of the neighborhood where she may be employed, she should be able to control herself at all times in order that she may properly govern a school, she should give due attention to personal appearance and above all have a character of genuine worth; despising mean acts and base principles, a character after which her pupils might pattern without being led astray.

We have some teachers well fitted for their work. Their schools are interesting, instructive, progressive. Their instruction cannot fail of having an abiding influence for good. We have some teachers who have not yet risen to the measure of opportunity before them, but none, we think, who have not progressed at all. The quality of our teaching force compares favorably with similar towns.

The teachers are making special effort to improve the oral reading. Pupils can read better than they do. Their principal faults are too rapid rate with indistinct and inaccurate pronunciation. Teachers have been drilled at teachers' meetings in the principles of good reading, and recently they have been given an outline of general principles of reading. It is purposed to give added attention to this important subject. Parents may assist by having their children read aloud at home.

There are some good penmen in each of the schools but it is usually in spite of, rather than because of, the attention given to it. We need to work hard in this subject. Usually there is a period on the program designated "writing," during a portion of which time the pupil assembles himself in some more or less definite position, holds his pen according to rule and writes in his copy book. He may also take some arm and finger exercises. The next period he writes on a language paper often with greater speed and carelessness than beauty or accuracy, holding his pen as he wishes; all because the teacher permits it. This makes the writing period (so called) of slight value and frequently distasteful to the pupil. Good penmen may be developed by making all written work exercises in writing as such. We hope to improve the present condition.

The geography outline has been entirely readjusted and conforms to the new books introduced last spring. Commercial Geography is taken during the last half of the ninth year and in some schools Civil Government.

The work in American History has been arranged after a new plan and the outline fully remodeled.

The old outline in Arithmetic has been rewritten with numerous suggestions added and additional work taken in the 9th year.

The Language and Grammar outline has undergone a series of repairs. Its limits are much the same as hitherto but many suggestions have been added and elementary work in Rhetoric taken the last year. Our pupils, on finishing school, are generally weak in English. It is important that they should not be and we hope to improve here, also.

Some work in author study has been added to the reading course introduced last year.

The outlines are all, with the single exception of drawing, printed by the mimeograph from a typewritten copy, on large paper and bound separately in attractive covers. All of these outlines have been taken up during the year in teachers' meetings and explained fully. At these meetings we have also considered four series of practical every day school questions by informal discussions and at the last meeting work in School Law was taken up to be reported at the first meeting next term. The meetings are held on Saturday morning from 10 to 12 o'clock, usually each four weeks. Attendance of teachers is voluntary and it has frequently been hard for them to be there which makes the good attendance of last year the more commendable. The meetings are public and any person will be welcomed.

The schools are fairly well supplied with books. Some copies are badly worn and will need to be replaced by others of the same author. Some of the books are needlessly damaged, for the pupils are not careful enough with the books loaned to them by the town. Parents should encourage their children, more than it appears that they do, to take as good, or better, care of the borrowed books than they would of their own property. It is difficult and unpleasant to collect money from parents for damage done to the town's property and we therefore on this ground, also, urge you to assist in preventing such damage. The conditions are improving but there is still room for greater improvement. Pupils have been less wasteful of other school supplies and this has been the main cause of reducing the expenditure for paper, pencils, pens, ink, etc., quite a number of dollars.

The "Progress Record" books, begun last year, are still in use. They assist greatly in comparing the work, seeing how the outlines are followed, and in setting examinations. Attendance reports are printed each month, and a record of the pupil's work and conduct is sent to the parents each half term.

There has been no satisfactory record in years gone by of the standings of the pupils who have passed through our schools. A card index system of registration and record is now in use. The name card of the pupil contains the date and place of birth, when the pupil entered school, where attended school previously, parent's or guardian's name and occupation. A record card is placed after the name card each year, bearing a full record of the pupil's work for that year, including the number of days he was not in school, how he behaved or did not behave, and how he applied himself to his books. The record is at the superintendent's office and is open to public inspection. The value of this record will increase as the years pass.

The winter has been a hard one for the schools. The pupils have been quite free from illness but zero temperature and unusual snowstorms have caused us to lose a few days and have small attendance on other days. The attendance of some pupils during the good weather has been more irregular than seemed necessary. The absence of a pupil is a greater drag to the school and to the pupil than outsiders may think. Parents are not thoughtful enough in this matter, for there are very few sufficient reasons for keeping a pupil out of school. Experience has abundantly proven that boys and girls who are most regular in attendance are those who excel in their studies. Our school year is not long, and there is not a child in this town who does not need every day of it. The custom of regular attendance at school is a healthy habit to acquire, and parents are more responsible for it than anyone else. A boy or a girl who is absent one or two days each week misses, as you see, 20 or 40 per cent of his or her schooling and cannot, as a rule, keep up with the grade. They are likely to get discouraged and simply drag along until the age limit set by law is reached and then drop out of school with little education and no ambition. This state of things is all wrong. The number of pupils in all parts of our town who are out of school, without sound excuse, from one to two days each week, should give us pause for thought. Happily there is another side represented by many pupils of great regularity in attendance. Some of these are indicated in the Honor Roll. Others are worthy of being there if effort to attend were the consideration. The pupil who plunges through well-nigh impassable roads for many days, but misses one day, is far more worthy of honorable mention than the one who is carried or makes slight effort. The figures below represent the per cent of attendance for the yearly period taken from the town report for that time:

1894, .88. 1899, .86. 1903, .853. 1904, .839. 1905, .885.

These per cents of attendance are by far too low. There is no reason why we cannot pass the .90 mark. Let us all put a shoulder to the wheel and mean business. We not only invite but urge the assistance of parents in this matter.

It gives me pleasure, at all times, to meet the people and talk over matters in which we have mutual interest. I appreciate, also, the full measure of freedom you have given me in the discharge of my duties during the year, and I hope the future conduct of my office will warrant a continuance of this same confidence.

Respectfully submitted,

B. J. MERRIAM.
